The Petitions of William Hutton and of William Bell.

To his Excellency the governor in Chif.

Honored Sir, I take this opportunity to let you know how I and others is used, by, I kno not whom, or for what, but I being a human Cretur I must feel and Cry tyranny, as I am unhumanly Confined for not perjuring my self, Contrary to all laws human or Devin. I would ask the legislator if evr thy seed the lik patronised in Aristotel or Cato or Sineka or any of the anshents or the hathens. I need not ask for won Instance of the lik in the Cristian world; no whear shall we look for an instance of the lik Crueltys as this land groans under; it must be in our great and good allys and the pop and his herarchy or in the tar and fether ordor; I am surprised that we have been so active scolars of that mistry of iniquity that Cris in Corners, with ther iniquisions and putting peopl to the rack for the surmises of man or men; this is such apritis as I as a Cristian heas solmly sworn against long ago, and as a subject of Great Britan of leat, sir, I am willing to submit to moral govrmnt, if I comit any moral transgresion, and I will not submit my Consence to any man or men, for I have been confined theas six months by the tyranny of a Court mershel, and now by the arbtary pleasur of men called Comishionars, I lead a petiton befor your honor, which you refired mee to the Judges, but I could find no man to do me Justis, but hear, I find anof to oppress mee into it, as the coman father of the cuntry; honored sir, this is not the Keeas of mee alon, ther is severals that hear groans under the seam opresion. If pesebal living be had, I have long begod for, and would beg that I may be honoribly sent out of the cuntry, as my famely will sun be in such a kes as cannot be moved in an ordinary way, and is now in a pittifull and detritut situasion, being drove from their dwelling, and now but sikly women and small children, the oldest boy being but ten years old. Sir, your Judgment on the whol will gretly obledge your humbl survant and Innossant sufferor.

William Hutton.

Citty hall, Genwary 15, 1781.

N. B. honored, sir, my particuilar cas is, I have been thes five months confined and can have no hearing by no means. I have sine been robed of almost evry thing, even the shift of my wiffs back. I humbly beg to be sent honorably out of the Country with my famely or have a peasobl living in it giving moral security that I will do you no harm; your honors Con-thinking them exposed, left them till the Enemy came; notwithstanding as I am told they had opportunity and could have retreated, but that an old man disaffected to the Righteous Cause of America, with one of his sons came to the house where my children lived and forced them to stay till the Enemy came up and then took them away, and also destroyed my Cattle and goods that were left with my Children; and I have since heard of my Children at St. Johns. I, therefore, Humbly and Earnestly request that your Excellency would help me in this my trouble; if any way there be that I may have my Children again, and may the Kind heavens supply your Excellency with every needed Blessing from both the upper and lower Springs. Your Excellencies most obedient Servant

Hopestill Biglo.

Mr. Parker. Sir, one favour I request of you, namely, that you would present my petition to the governor, and if need be speak in my Behalf for my Children, and you will greatly oblige your hearty friend.

Answer to Colonel Malcom's Letter, Respecting the Pay of His Brigade.

[3d Feb'y 1781.]

Sir, I have rec'd your Letter of today. Agreeable to the act of the Legislature, in Pursuance whereof the Brigade of Levies lately under your Command were raised, they were to be paid

These testify that the Bearer hereof William Bell and his Family, consisting of himself, his Wife and five Children, and his own Sister, Isobel Bell, have lived in or on the Neighbourhood of this Parish of Castleton in Scotland, ever since their Infancy, being born herein; and free from all publick Scandal,
~~and from all Church Censure to us known. So that we know~~ Nothing wherefore they may not be received into any Congregation or Christian Society where Providence may call them to, and enjoy all Christian Privilege as being qualified. And further, that the abovementioned William, the Head of the Family, ~~is~~ ^{has} my particular acquaintance and with whom I am sorry to part, has all ways born a very good Character, and so far as I have known or observed, very deservedly, being always looked upon as a religiously well-disposed, sober, honest and industrious Man, a faithful & good-Worker, which cannot fail to recommend him, as I hereby do him and his family, next to the Protection of the All-mighty, to the favourable Regard of every good Man, where he or his Family may come.
In witness whereof, these Presents are written, & given at Castleton

A letter of introduction of Wm Bell, from to America written 1772

To Maeph- h. Bull
from Dad

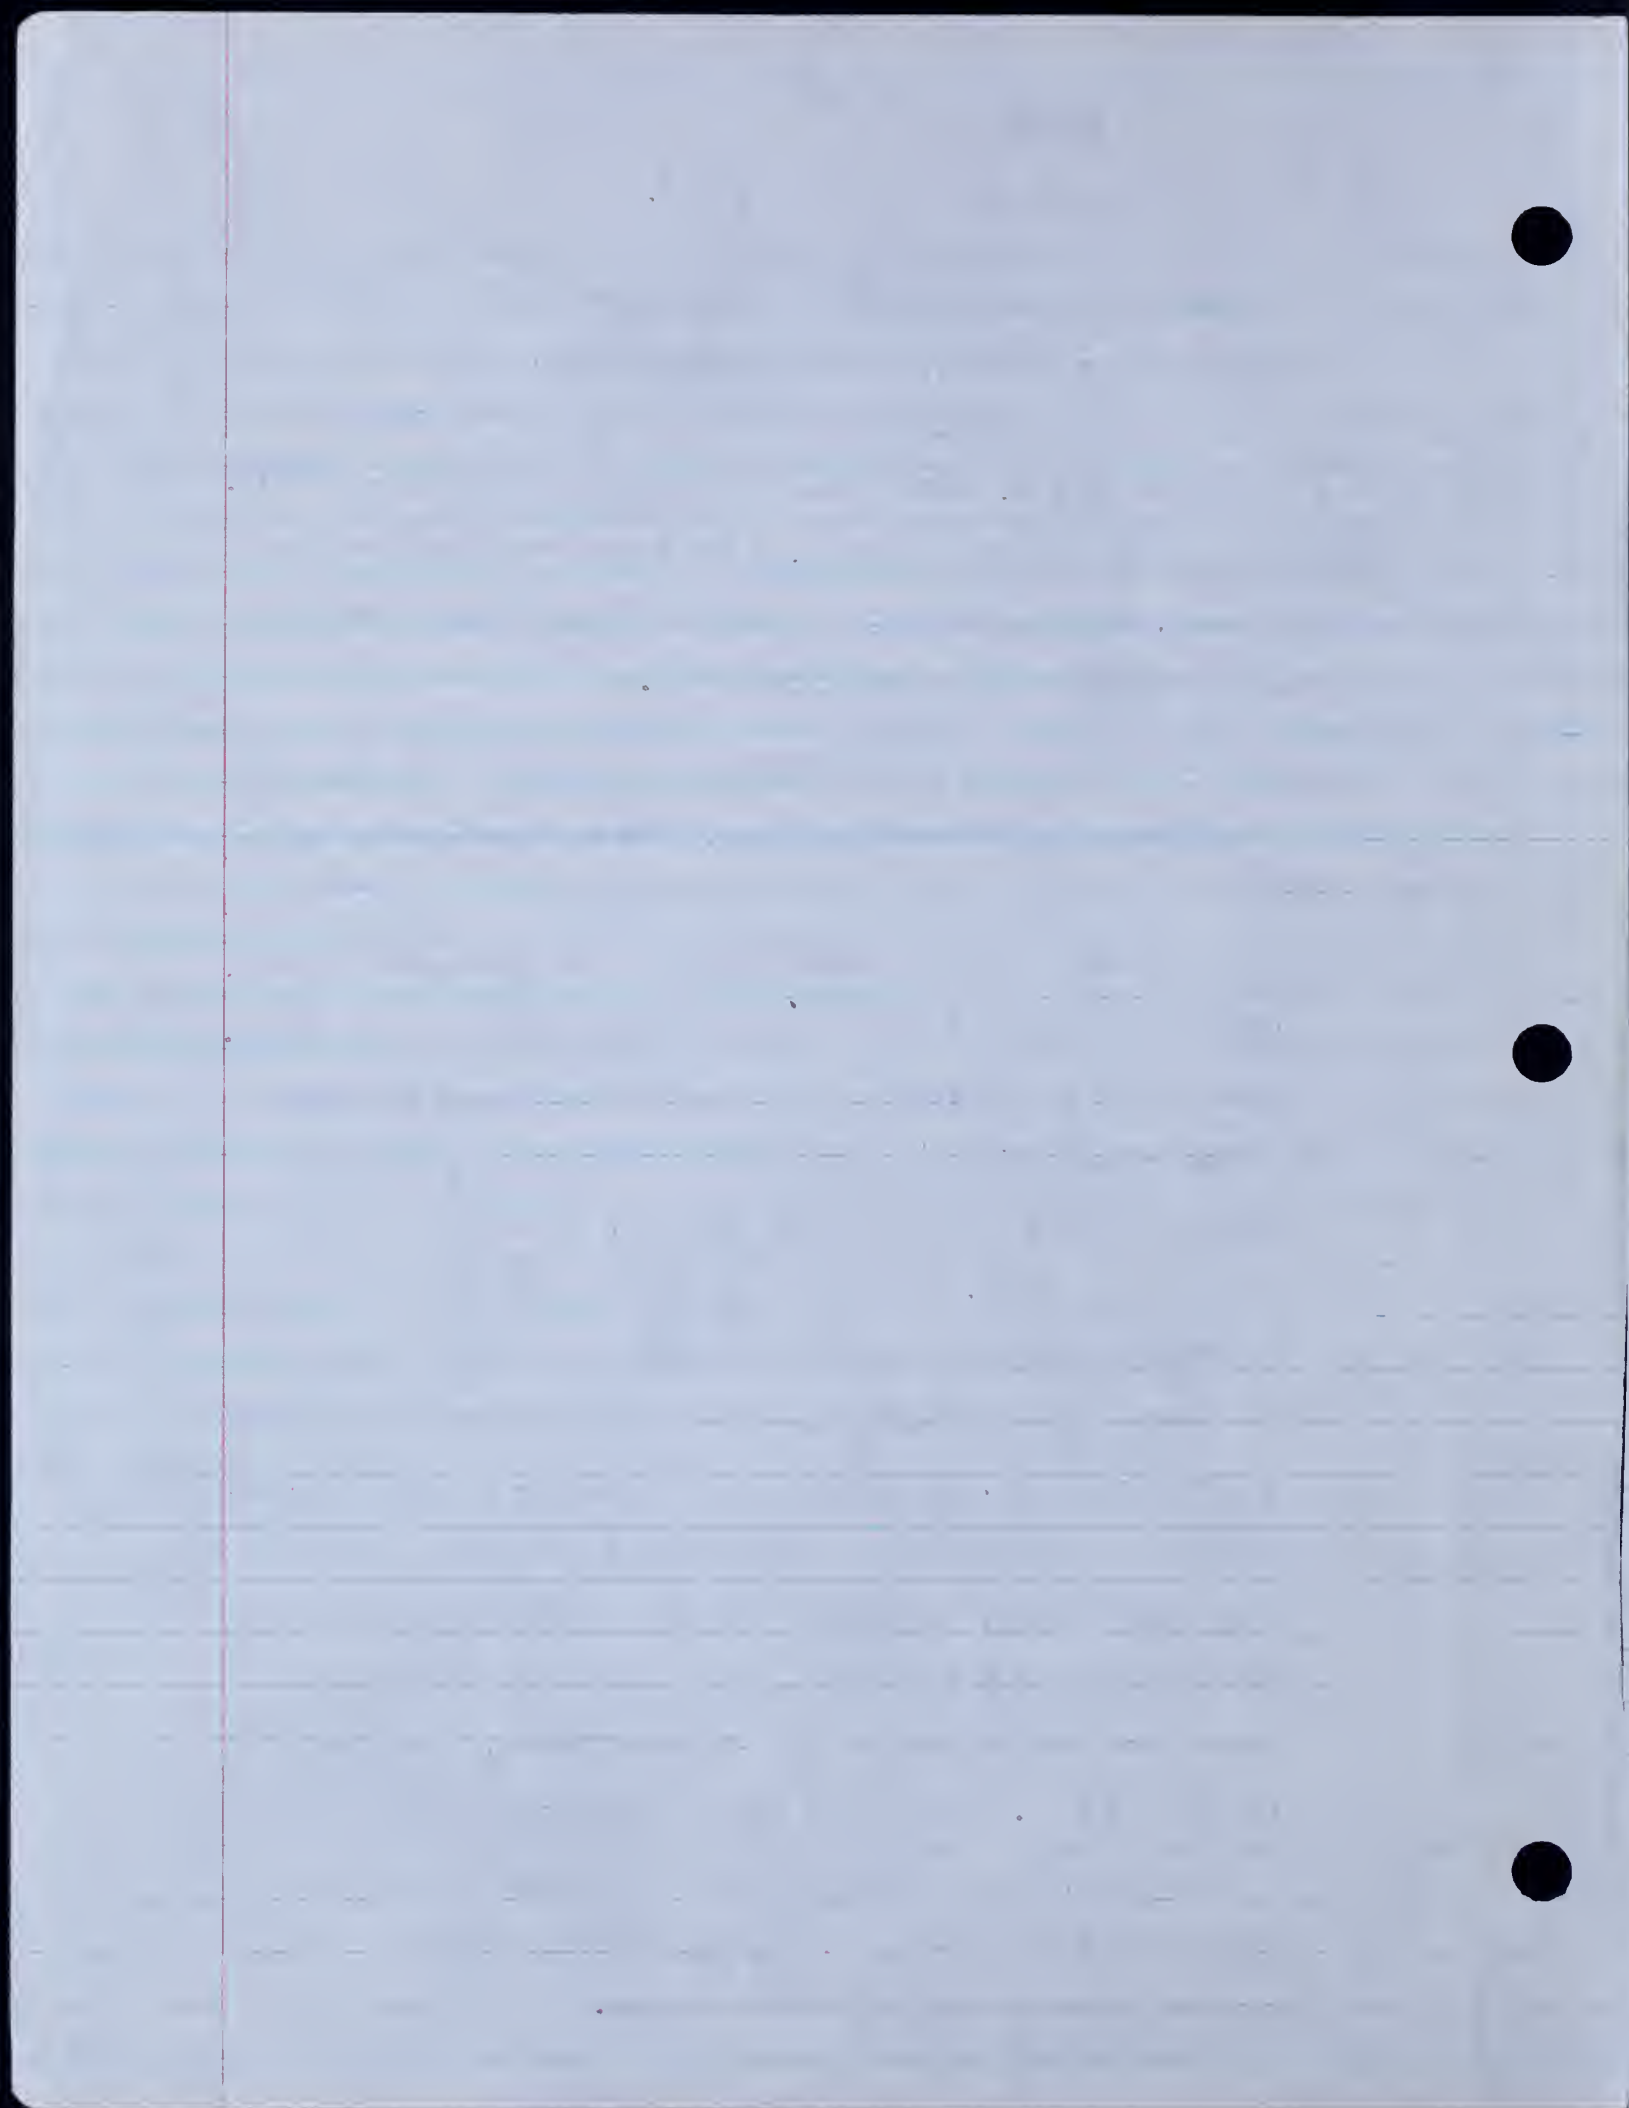

May 13, 1954.

THE BELL FAMILY OF FORT EDWARD.

The Bell Family, Loyalist Refugees, who came to the Bay of Quinte area in the summer of 1784, were of Scottish origin. The first of the name, WILLIAM BELL, Senior, with his wife, Flora, and her five children, and his sister, Isabel, sailed from his homeland in the summer of 1772. They had all been born in Castleton, a community on the banks of the Liddel Water. in Roxburghshire, a quiet valley bordering on Cumberland, England, and lying in the shade of Roan Fell.

The Bells came to America fortified by a letter of introduction from the minister of their native parish. This most interesting letter reads:

"These testifie that the bearer hereof WILLIAM BELL AND his Family, consisting of himself, his wife and five children. and his Sister. Isabel Bell, have lived in, or in the neighborhood of the Parish of Castleton in Lidesdale, ever since their Infancy, being born herein, are free from all publick scandal, or grounds of church Censure to us known. So that we know Nothing wherefore they may not be received into any Congregation or Christian Society where Providence may cast their Lot, and enjoy all Christian Privileges as found qualified. And further, that the above-mentioned William, the head of the Family, is my particular Acquaintance and with whom I am Sorry to part, has allways born a very good Character, and so far as I have known or observed, very deservedly, being always looked upon as a religiously well-disposed, sober, honest and Industrious Man . A faith full and good Worker which cannot fail to recommend him, as I hereby do him and his family, next to the Protection of the All-mighty, to the favourable Regards of every good-man, where he and his family may come.

2 In Witness whereof, these Presents were written, & given at Castleton

Robert Rutherford, Minister.

James Armstrong, Elder."

I have often wondered if, had they known what was in store for them in the next two decades, they might well have decided to return to the peaceful life in their native Valley.

4 The Bell Family arrived in America late in June, after the customary turbulent Atlantic voyage. They soon made their way up the Hudson River to the Scottish settlement at Fort Edward. It is said that William resided on Lot 138 of the Argyle Patent. If so, it was on the rising land to the north of the village of Fort Edward. Here he erected a log house beside the road leading northward to Fort Anne, and set himself up as Innkeeper, beside a cool, clear spring on the hillside.

5 William Bell, the Innkeeper, was a prominent man in the community. On June 4, 1776, at a meeting of the Committee of Safety, William Bell, Judge Duer, William Campbell and Patrick Smyth were chosen as its members. As these men had been chosen in open voting, it can be assumed that the Scots were loyal to British Institutions, as Bell, Campbell and Smyth, soon afterward were proven to be Loyal, or Tories. Still, as newcomers to the community, they kept their opinions to themselves. Likewise, as Scottish men their prime interest was in their land, their families and their animals.

6 As the dark clouds of the approaching Revolution darkened the horizon, the Scots remained busy on their land, even as General Burgoyne and his Army occupied Crown Point, then Ticonderoga, Fort Anne, and was approaching Fort Edward. The American force quietly retired down the road to Albany and New York.

The first contact with the enemy occurred in the Bell cornfield on July 27th, 1777. The story of the unforgettable event has been told and retold so many times, and the world knows the story of the death and scalping of JANE MCCRAE. It is told that the two Bell boys, William, Jr., and Duncan were hilling up the corn, as a group of Indians passed through, breaking the corn stalks, in order to obtain the juice. They were on their way to ^{bring} back Jane McCrae and her friend, Mrs. McNeil, to the British Army. The deed had been accomplished and the party was on its way to north, when they came in contact with a second party of Indians. . A disagreement ensued, and in the conflict, Jane was killed and scalped. If you have not read the story, you had better do it now. I have told the true story in another booklet, and in readily available

At the approach of General Burgoyne and his Army, the Bells served as guides. As with many of the Scottish men and families, the Bell family placed themselves under British protection, but continued care for their farms. . But after Burgoyne's defeat ^X many Scots were seized for having been with the enemy. Many, including William Bell were put in gaol. He was considered as unsafe to be left on the border lines, and should be imprisoned in Albany.

However, William continued to reside in Fort Edward, under what conditions we do not know. But by 1780 the American authorities seem to have become tired of Bell's actions, as indicated by the following entry in the Minutes of Commissioners for Conspiracies, dated Augst. 29, 1780:

9 ¹¹ Joseph Hawkins, Thomas Yarns, William Bell and William Griffon having been apprehended by Order of Albert Baker, John Moss & Noah Pain Esqrs. three of the Justices of the peace for the County of Charlotte were brought before the Board under Guard and it appearing ²⁷ from the charges transmitted by the said Justices that the said prisoners are dangerous & disaffected Persons and that they have been with the enemy ---

It is therefore resolved that they be committed and a mittimus be made out for them ---

It is therefore evident that on the strength of this Mittimus, Mr. Bell was committed to the Albany Gaol. They were still in gaol, when, on Dec. 12th, 1780 the following Letter from Ebenezer Clark and Alexander McNit, Esqrs., two of the Commissioners for Conspiracies for the County of Charlotte, dated New Perth 2nd Instant was laid before the Board setting that they inclose a Petition signed by sundry of the Inhabitants of Kingsbury in Favour of Thomas Yarns, William Griffin and William Bell who are at present in Confinement resolved that the said Petition be taken into Consideration at some future Day ---

Not so long thereafter the goal received another prisoner, William Hutton a resident of Skenesborough, a Town to the northeast of Fort Edward. They became friends as they endured prison life. After suffering imprisonment for six months, Hutton directed a Petition to Governor George Clinton in the names of William Hutton and William Bell, pointing their confinement without trial, and under brutal, inhuman treatment. This petition was dated 'City hall (Albany), Genwary 15, 1781.

William Bell submitted a second Petition a month later, as there was no response to the first one. Bell's Petition was in much milder language, as it produced a reply in the form of release. I add it here:

"Albany City hall, February 2, 1781

WILLIAM Bell's petition brought results a little more than a firtnight, as the following extract from the files of the Commissioners for defeating Conspiracies will confirm:

It seems rather strange that William Bell and his two sons should remain^x in Fort Edward until 1780-81 before departing for Canada. The family's first contact with the war was when, in the spring of 1776, the residue of the rebel force that had attempted to capture Quebec City in the previous autumn, now came fleeing down the hill into Fort Edward and to safety along the Lower Hudson River. It was less than four years since they had arrived in America. They were not accustomed to conflicts; at the same time they were interested only in their farm on the hillside where the cool, clear 18 water of the spring on the hillside bubbles on its way to the Hudson River; and where a log cabin and associated barn furnished protection and comfort to his growing family and his livestock.

As General Burgoyne and his army approached Fort Edward, and bands of Indians, who had slaughtered the Allen Family, and later participated in the death of Jane McCrae, continued to roam the forests, the Scottish families sought protection, and at the same time gave evidence of loyalty the to British Crown.

19 Then, when Burgoyne was forced to capitulate in October, ~~1777~~ 1777, and a clause permitted those Americans to depart to Canada, provided they did not carry arms for the duration of the present war, thousand men took advantage and fled to Canada. But the Scottish in Argyle Town, of the whole, returned to their homes, as if nothing had happened, and remembering that land must be relinquished so that the Master can find a place for his sheep.

But, even so, William Bell was a loyal British subject, and continually irking his neighbors. Finally, he was ordered confined to gaol in Albany. He was finally released, and bonded so that he would keep the peace.

19 Little is known of his actions thereafter. It is known that his older son, William, Junior, ~~had~~ joined the King's Rangers, under command of Major James Rogers, in May, 1780. William, Jr., was then about 21 years of age.

Duncan, his younger brother, when twenty years of age was recruited by Sergeant Clauson, and taken to St. John's, Quebec, on 4th August, when he also joined the King's Rangers..

A record in the Haldimand Papers, being a list of soldiers serving in the King's Rangers on 1st January, 1782, shows the following

William Bell (Jr.), age 22 yrs., 2 mos., 5' 11", 1yr. 8 mos. service. d

However, in a later List in the autumn of 1783, entitled

General Return of Refugee Loyalists Exclusive of Those Quartered and Residing at the ~~QUARTERS~~ Upper Posts, we find two William Bells and a Duncan Bell, all listed as farmers from New York (Province)

21 A list of the first Loyalist settlers in Fredericksburgh, called the QUEBEC PLAN, dated October 1784, contains the names of William , Jr., and Duncan, members of the King's Rangers settled in Fredericksburgh, Third Town. They were allocated to Lot 9, Concession One, William being attocated the East half, being 100 acres, while Duncan ^X was allocated the West half..
William, senior, was not mentioned in this List. It is, however, evident that he had returned to Fort Edward to his family, and to make his peace with his first home, and then to return to the Bay of Quinte to be near his two soldier sons.

This brings us to another, known as the List of Loyalists of and attached to the King's late Rangers

This list informs us that William, Sr., had arrived in Fredericksburgh between October, 1784, and 1st July, 1786, accompanied by his good wife and their five daughters. Just where the family settled in the township is not known at this moment. Its location becomes your problem.

23 About three years after the creation of the above list, the amount of land apportioned to a Refugee was increased to 200 acres, ^X plus 50 acres if ^f

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for the integrity of the financial system and for the ability to detect and prevent fraud.

In the second part, the document outlines the specific procedures for recording transactions. It details the steps involved in the accounting cycle, from identifying the transaction to posting it to the appropriate ledger account. It also discusses the importance of double-checking entries to ensure accuracy.

The third part of the document focuses on the reconciliation process. It explains how to compare the company's records with the bank's records to identify any discrepancies. It provides a step-by-step guide for performing a bank reconciliation and discusses the common reasons for differences between the two sets of records.

In the fourth part, the document discusses the preparation of financial statements. It outlines the steps for calculating net income, preparing the income statement, and determining the ending balances for the balance sheet and equity statement. It also discusses the importance of reviewing these statements for accuracy and consistency.

The final part of the document provides a summary of the key points discussed. It reiterates the importance of accurate record-keeping, proper recording procedures, regular reconciliation, and careful preparation of financial statements. It concludes by stating that following these guidelines will help ensure the reliability and integrity of the company's financial records.

married, and fifty acres for each child. This extra land to which a Loyalist was entitled naturally could not be granted in one particular Township, since others had to be accommodated. In the case of the Bells, the extra land was located in Camden Township, just north of Ernesttown, and it is here that we find William McCorquada Bell, Junior.

24 Duncan seems to have sold his original land, or perhaps traded, as his descendants were found located in the western portion of Ernesttown, where they assisted in founding the early McIntyre Church. In this region will be found their present day descendants. Likewise William Bell, Juniors, people will be found to the north of Varty Lake.

William Bell, Senior, is recorded as having died in Fredericksburgh, and buried, doubtedly on his farm, on 29th September. 1788. His wife, Flora, survived, and was buried by Rev. John Langhorn on 12th November, 1793. Their two soldier sons, William, Junior, and Duncan will be referred to later. The daughters are listed below:

25 Jane, married Andrew Embury, a Loyalist soldier, shortly after the settlement. She drew her 200 acres of land by Order-in-Council 12 July, 1807. She was the mother of eleven children.

Eleanor, married Asa Hough of Fredericksburgh, also a Loyalist, on 11th May, 1790. She was the mother of eight children.

Ann, married Lambert Van Alstine of Fredericksburgh, on 22 July, 1788. She mothered ten children.

~~XX~~

Margaret, married about 1794, George Sills of Fredericksburgh, and was the mother of seven children

Isabel, married John Sills of Fredericksburgh on 23rd Feb., 1794. Her husband died 19 Nov., 1800, leaving her with four children.

She married, second, on 12th October, 1801, Martin Hough of 87

Fredericksburgh, and bore him five children.

26 I pause to confess that I am uncertain about the children and grandchildren^x of William Bell, Senior. I have been relying on the Rev. John Langhorn's Register and on Reed's List of Sons and Daughters of a Loyalist. It is known that Mr. Reed has made errors: so why cannot I? If you disagree with my lists, then make one of your own.

27 William Bell, Junior, also known as William McCorquabel Bell, was born in Castleton, Scotland in 1769, we are told. He came to America with his parents in 1772, when they settled in Fort Edward. In 1780 he joined the King's Rangers, was listed as a Sergeant, and finally settled in^x Fredericksburgh in 1784. He later removed to Camden Township, where his descendants have blossomed into a notable family. He married Ann, daughter of Edward Caraxcallen about 1783. She was then 18 years of age, or thereabouts, having been born in 1767. If I am right, their children were:

David Fraser., of Camden East. His O. C. dated 27 Nov., 1834

Helen, married Mathias Switzer of Camden East. Her O.C. 19 June, 1832.

John of Camden East. His O. C. dated 14 Sept., 1823

James of Camden East. His O. C. dated 14 June, 1839.

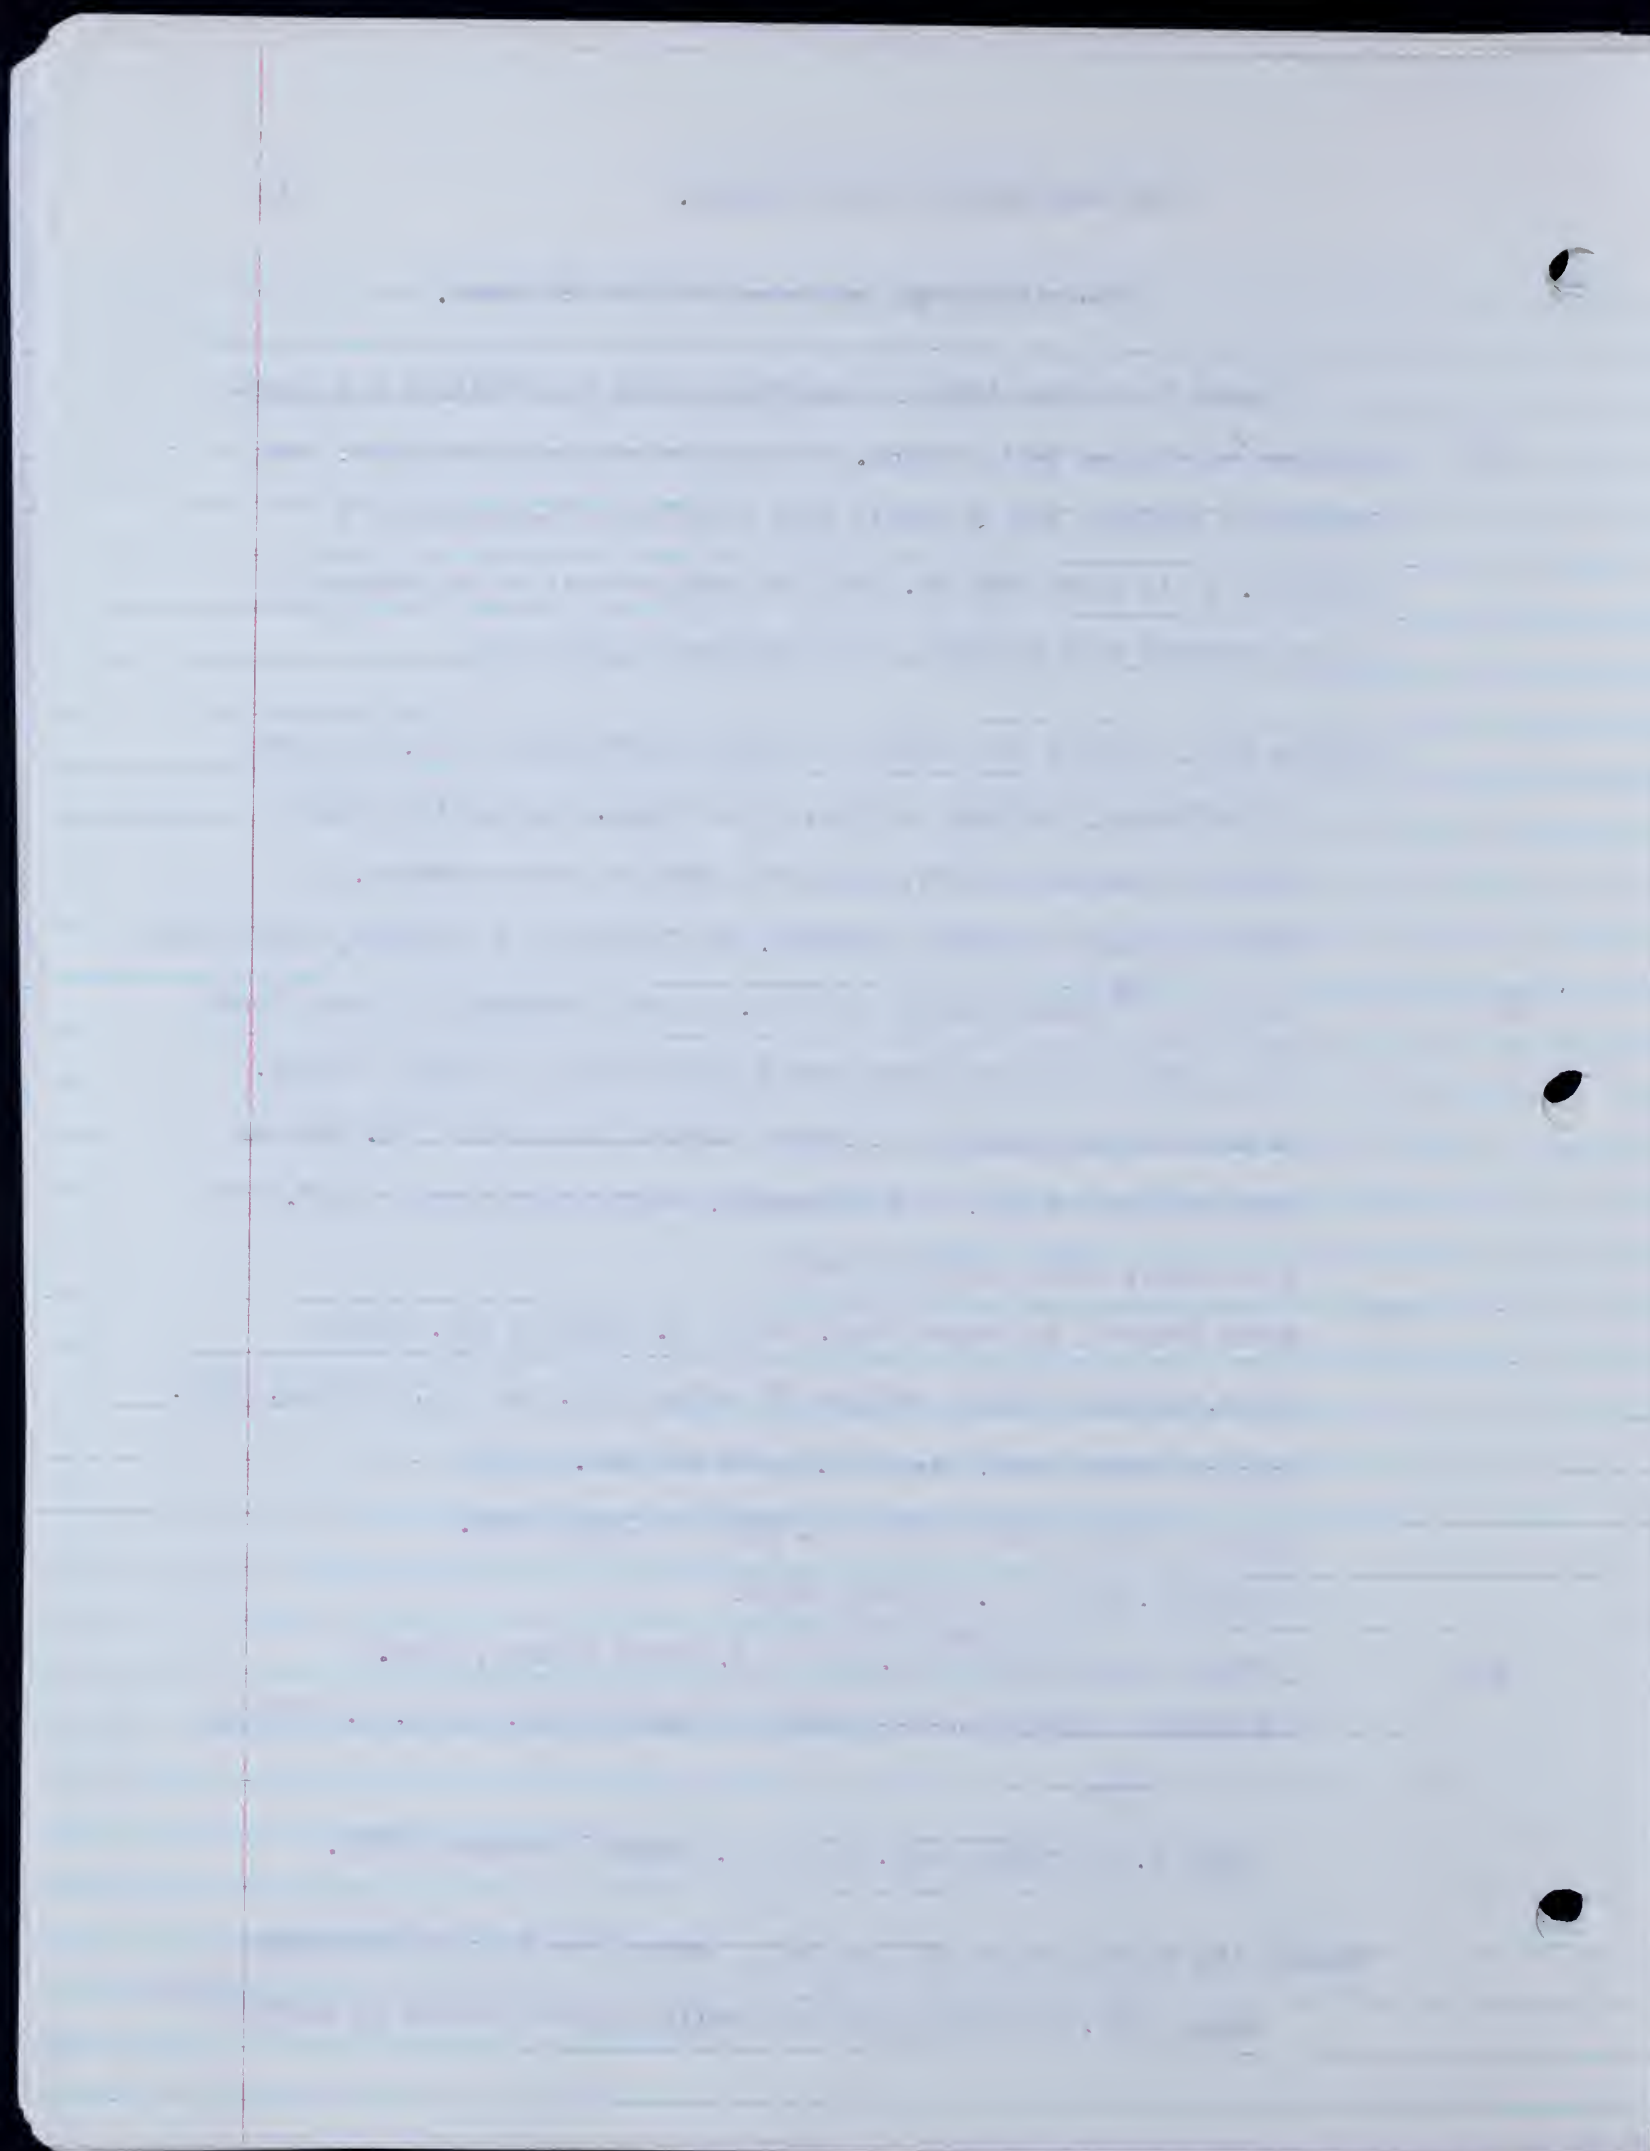

Catharine. Her O. C. 14 June, 1839.

28 Edward C. of Camden East.^x His O. C. dated 3 March, 1836.

Elizabeth, married ----- Embury of Camden East. Her O. C. 19 May, 1836

David C. of Camden Esat. His O. C. dated 6 November, 1834.

Duncan, the second son of William Bell, Senior, was born in Castleton about 1760. He accompanied the family on their coming to America⁵⁰ in 1772. He and his brother William were hilling the corn when Miss Jane McCrae was killed and scalped by the Indians. He joined King's Rangers , arriving at the unit in St. John, Quebec, the 4th August, 1782. He settled with his regiment in Fredericksburgh, where he drew the 24 west ^x half of Lot nine, Concession one. It is evident that he removed to the western part of Ernesttown, where some of his descendants still reside. Shortly after his arrival he married Anna, daughter of Isaac Brisco. They had a family of ten known children, who are listed below:

John of Fredericksburgh. His O. C. dated 25 Feb., 1809.

Ruth, bapt. 1st Jan., 1789, married Gilbert Sharp of Fredericksburgh, on 29 Oct., 1807. Her O. C. is dated 25 Feb., 1809.

Abigail, bapt. 27 April, 1794. She married Abraham Taylor of Fredericksburgh. Her O. C. dated 16 Feb., 1811.

25 Isaac of Fredericksburgh. His O. C. dated 18 March, 1818. ^x

Eleanor, bapt. 26 March, 1789, married Jonathan Phillips of Sidney Township. Her O. C. is dated 18 March, 1818.

26 There is one more angle to be mentioned. It is the loss of property by the Bell family during the Revolution. It was the standard custom, established by Congress that all property, either real or personal of a Tory would be ^x seized and sold at public auction, even as the owners stood 11

QUIETLY BY. However, in this instance, it is possible that the Bell family retained their standing in the community, at least until William Senior, escaped to the British in St. John's.

There is on record the many claims of Loyalists, except two bundles yet to be copied. As there is no claim for William, Senior, unless yet to be copied, it is possible to appeal to the British Public Record Office for acopy, at, of course, a fee.

27

The father and two sons proceeded to Montreal where the claims^x if the two sons were presented to the Committee for Reviewing Claims The claims were as follows:

906. Claim of Duncan Bell, late of Charlotte County.

Claimt. says:

He resided at St. John's in '83.

Is a native of Scotland. Came to A., lived in Carlotte Co. Joined the Brit. in '78. Served in Rogers Rangers all the war as Sergt.

Had 3 horses lost when he was carrying Genl. Hald. Despatches. Had 2 horses at his Father's at Fort Edward, they were taked by the Rebels in '79.

U. E. Claims Liguידated.

It might well be noted that Duncan claimed £ 40, and received £ 24.

William claimed £ 54. 15 sh. and paid £ 24.

You might say: Robbed both ways!

THE BELL FAMILY OF FREDERICKSBURG.

The Bell Family, Loyalist Refugees, who came to the Bay of Quinte area in the Summer of 1784, were of Scottish origin. The first of the name, William Bell, Senior, with his wife Flora and five children, and his sister Isabel, sailed from his native land in the Summer of 1772. They had all been born in Castleton, a community on the banks of Liddel Water, in Roxburghshire, a quiet valley bordering on England, and lying in the shade of Roan Fell.

The Bells came to America fortified by a letter of introduction from the minister of their native town. This most interesting letter reads:

"These testify that the Bearer hercof William Bell and his Family, consisting of himself, his wife and Five children, and his own Sister, Isabel Bell, have lived in or in the Neighborhood of the Parish of Castletoun in Lidesdale, ever since their Infancy, being born herein, are free from all publick Scandal or grounds of church Censure to us known. So that we know Nothing wherefore they may not be received into any Congregation or Christian Society where Providence may cast their Lot, and enjoy all Christian Privilege as found qualified. And further, that the above-mentioned William, the Head of the Family, is my particular Acquaintance and with whom I am Sorry to part, has allways born a very good Character, and so far as I have known or observed, very deservedly, being always looked upon as a religiously well-disposed, sober, honest and Industrious Man. A faith full and good Worker which cannot fail to recomond him, as I hereby do him and his family, next to the Protection of the All-mighty, to the favourable Regards of every good-man, where he or his Family may come.

In Witness whereof, these Presents are written, & given at Castletoun Manse the 3rd Day of May, 1772, and Subscribed by

Here they settled down on a hill overlooking both the Town of Fort-Edward to the south and the Upper Hudson River. William created a log cabin and opened it as an inn, beside a clear spring flowing out of the hillside.

William Bell, the innkeeper was a prominent man in the community. At a meeting of the Committee of Safety, held June 4, 1776 the Town of Argyle was listed as being represented by Judge Duer, William Bell, William Campbell and Patrick Smith. As these men had been chosen ^{by} open voting, it must be assumed that the Scots of Argyle were of loyal persuasion. But being recent Scottish settlers, all too loyal to the Crown, they kept their opinions to themselves. Their prime interest was their land, their family and their animals.

Will Elliott

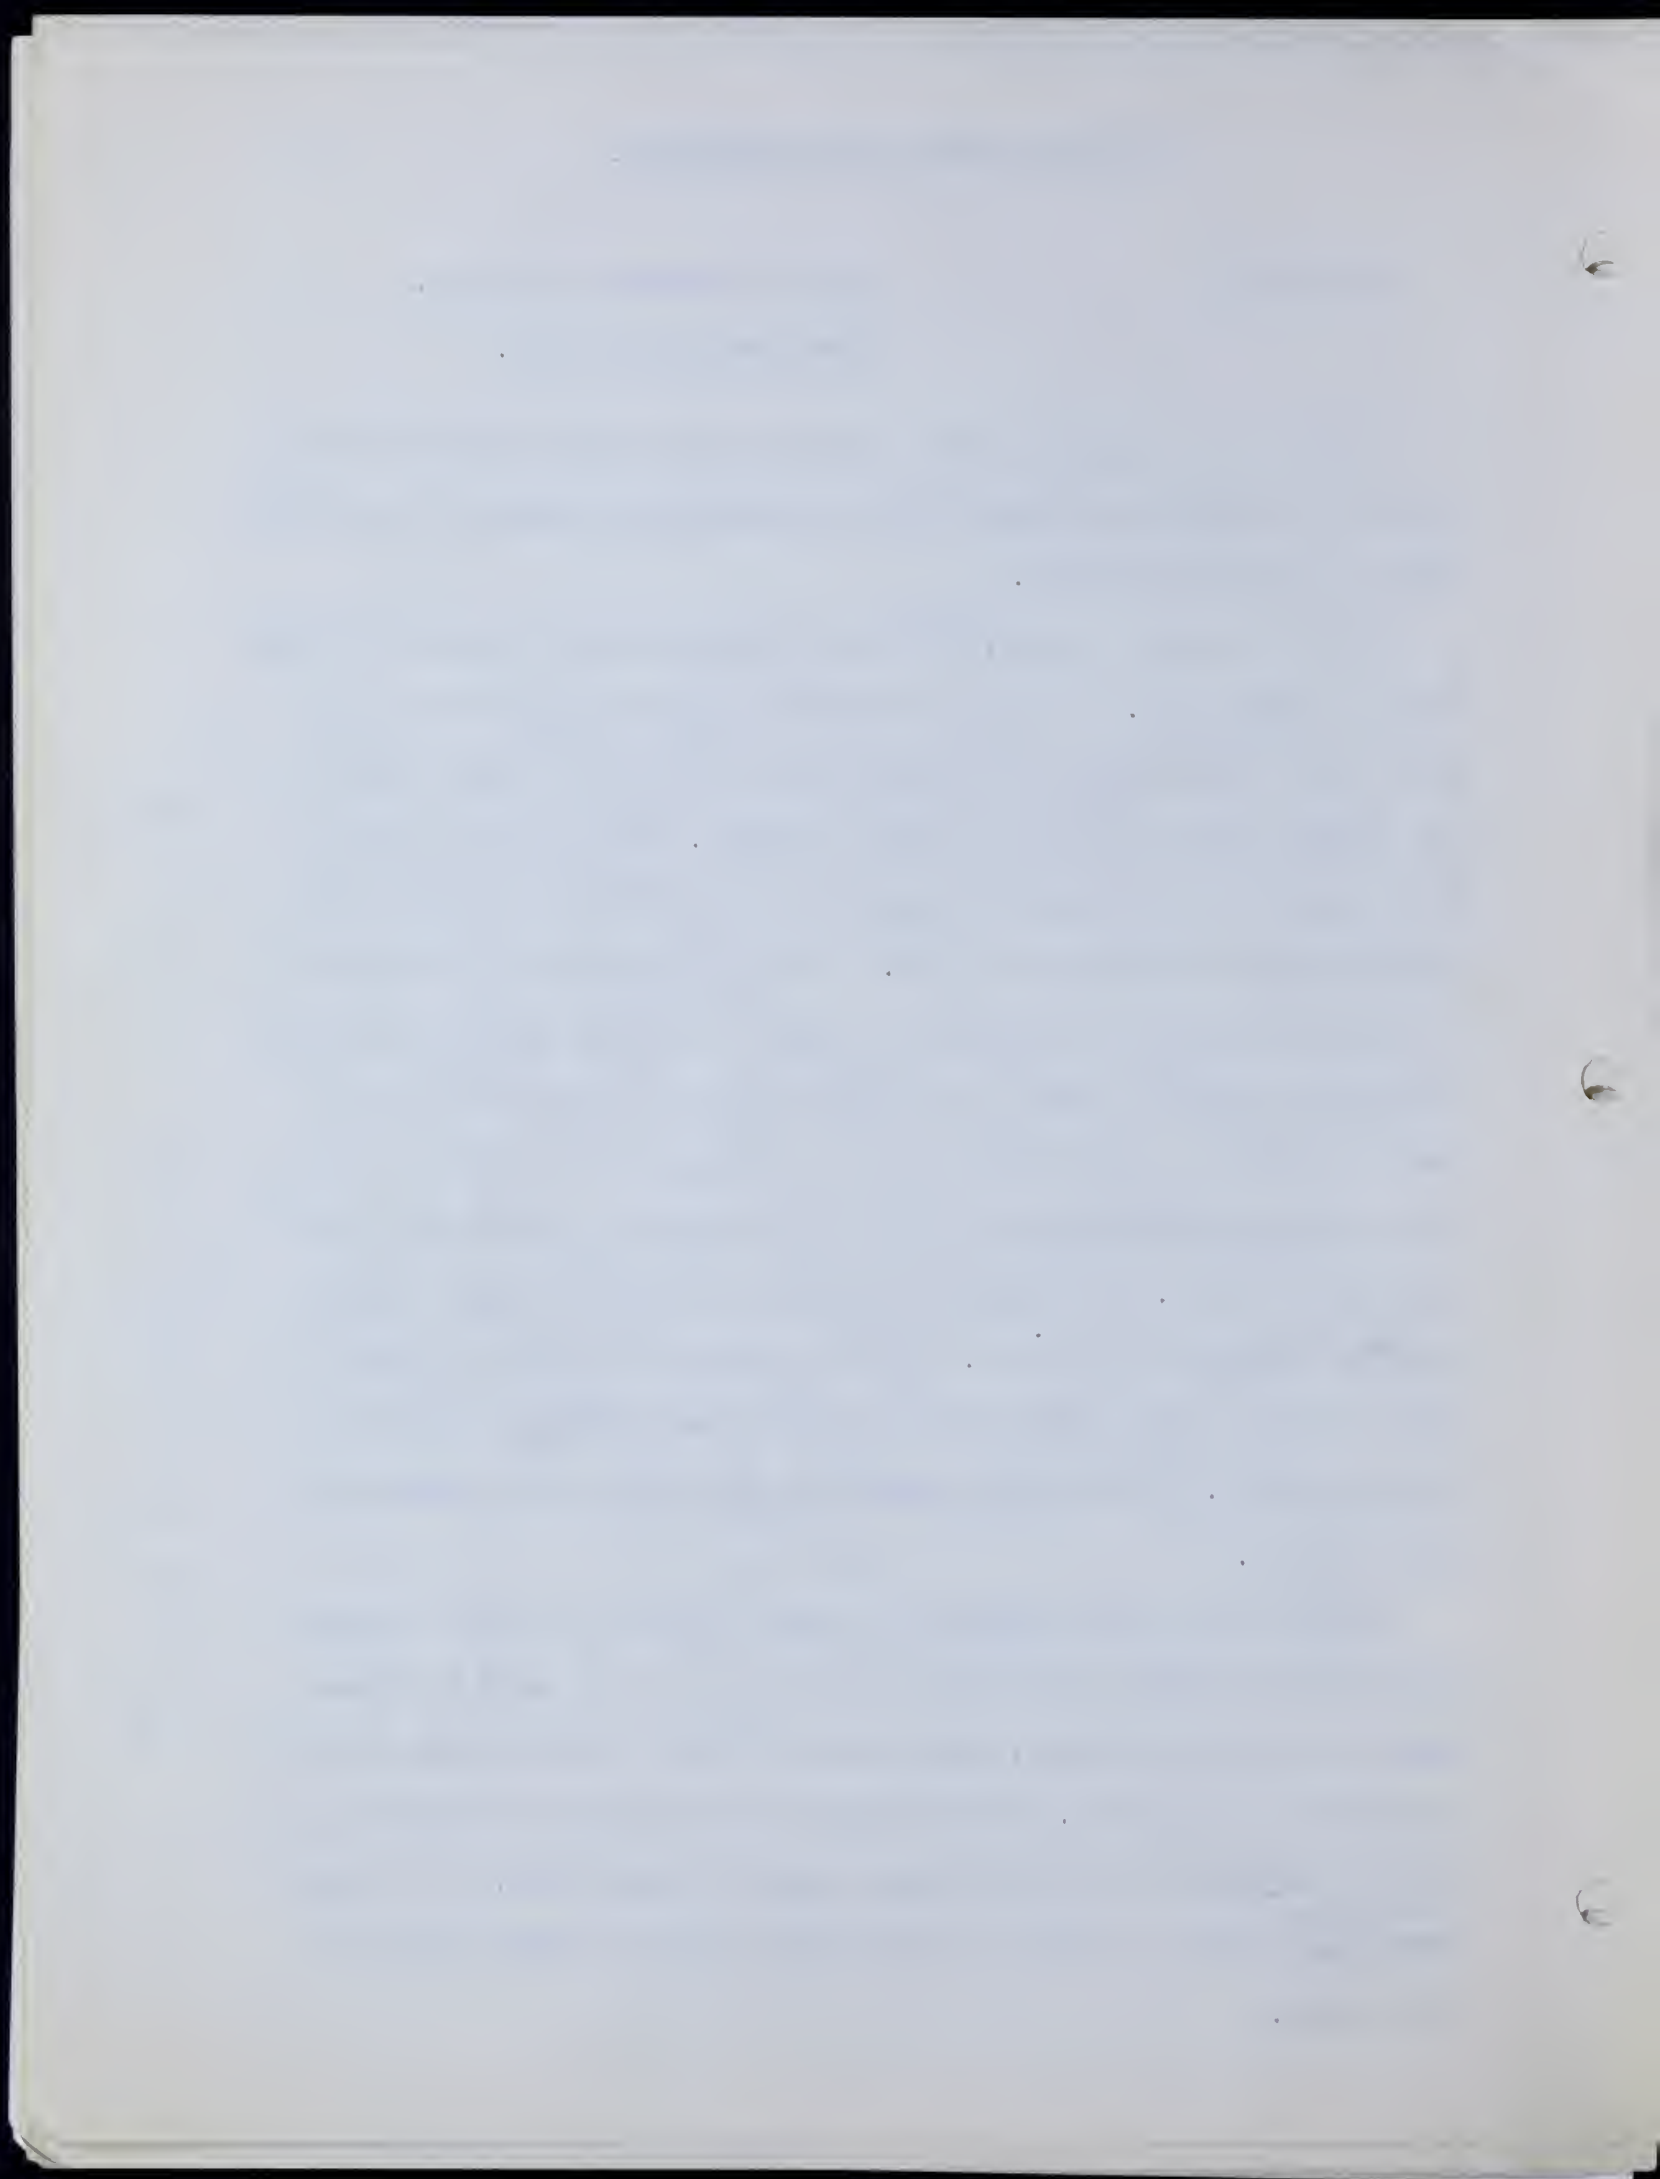

Robert Rutherford Minister.

James Armstrong Elder.

I have often wondered if, had they known what was in store for them in the next two decades, they might well have decided to return to the peaceful life in their native valley.

After landing in America, ^{in June} the Bell family made their way up the Hudson River to Fort Edward. Here, in the northwest corner of that Town, on the east bank of the Hudson, they settled down to become an integral part of the Scottish settlement in the Argyle community. Unfortunately, they had arrived just in time to become involved in the civil war which led to the independence of the American States. At the meeting of the Committee of Safety, held June 4, 1776, Argyle was listed as represented by Judge Duer, William Bell, William Campbell and Patrick Smith. As these men appear to have been chosen in open voting, one must assume that the Scots in Argyle were of Loyal persuasion, seeing that Bell, Campbell and Smith were soon known to be Tories. In truth, the Scots in Argyle and Fort Edward were relative newcomers to the area. Although loyal to the Crown, they kept their opinions to themselves, and in minor matters conformed with their older neighbors. Their prime interest was their land, their families and their animals.

Early in 1777, the communities in Upper New York were much disturbed by news that a British Army, under General Burgoyne was about to invade their area by way of Canada. News came of the fall of Crown Point and the surrender of Ticonderoga. By June Burgoyne had advanced to Whitehall, and shortly thereafter reached the Hudson River at Hudson Falls. The American army was forced to retire to Moses Kill, leaving a small garrison at Fort Edward.

THE BELL FAMILY OF FREDERICKSBURGH.

Information regarding the Bell Family following the⁸ burial of Jane McGree is sketchy. It is said that William, Senior, joined Burgoyne's Army.

This must have been temporary, as he was still in Fort Edward in 1780. In August of that year William Bell, Senior, and three others appeared, under guard, before the Committee for Detecting and Defeating Conspiracies in Albany, when it was noted that "the said prisoners are dangerous and disaffected and that they have been with the enemy." They were found guilty and committed to jail. On December 2 a petition signed by William's neighbors was submitted to the Committee, recommending his release, but ~~an~~ action was deferred.

On February 19, 1781, after almost six month's detention, William was released on £200 bail. A fellow Scot, Duncan Shaw, was his bailman. At the same time a notation read: "As the above-mentioned William Bell lives upon the Frontiers and has it in his Power to aid and Comfort the Enemy, resolved that he be ordered to remove into the Interior Parts of this State by the first Day of April next."

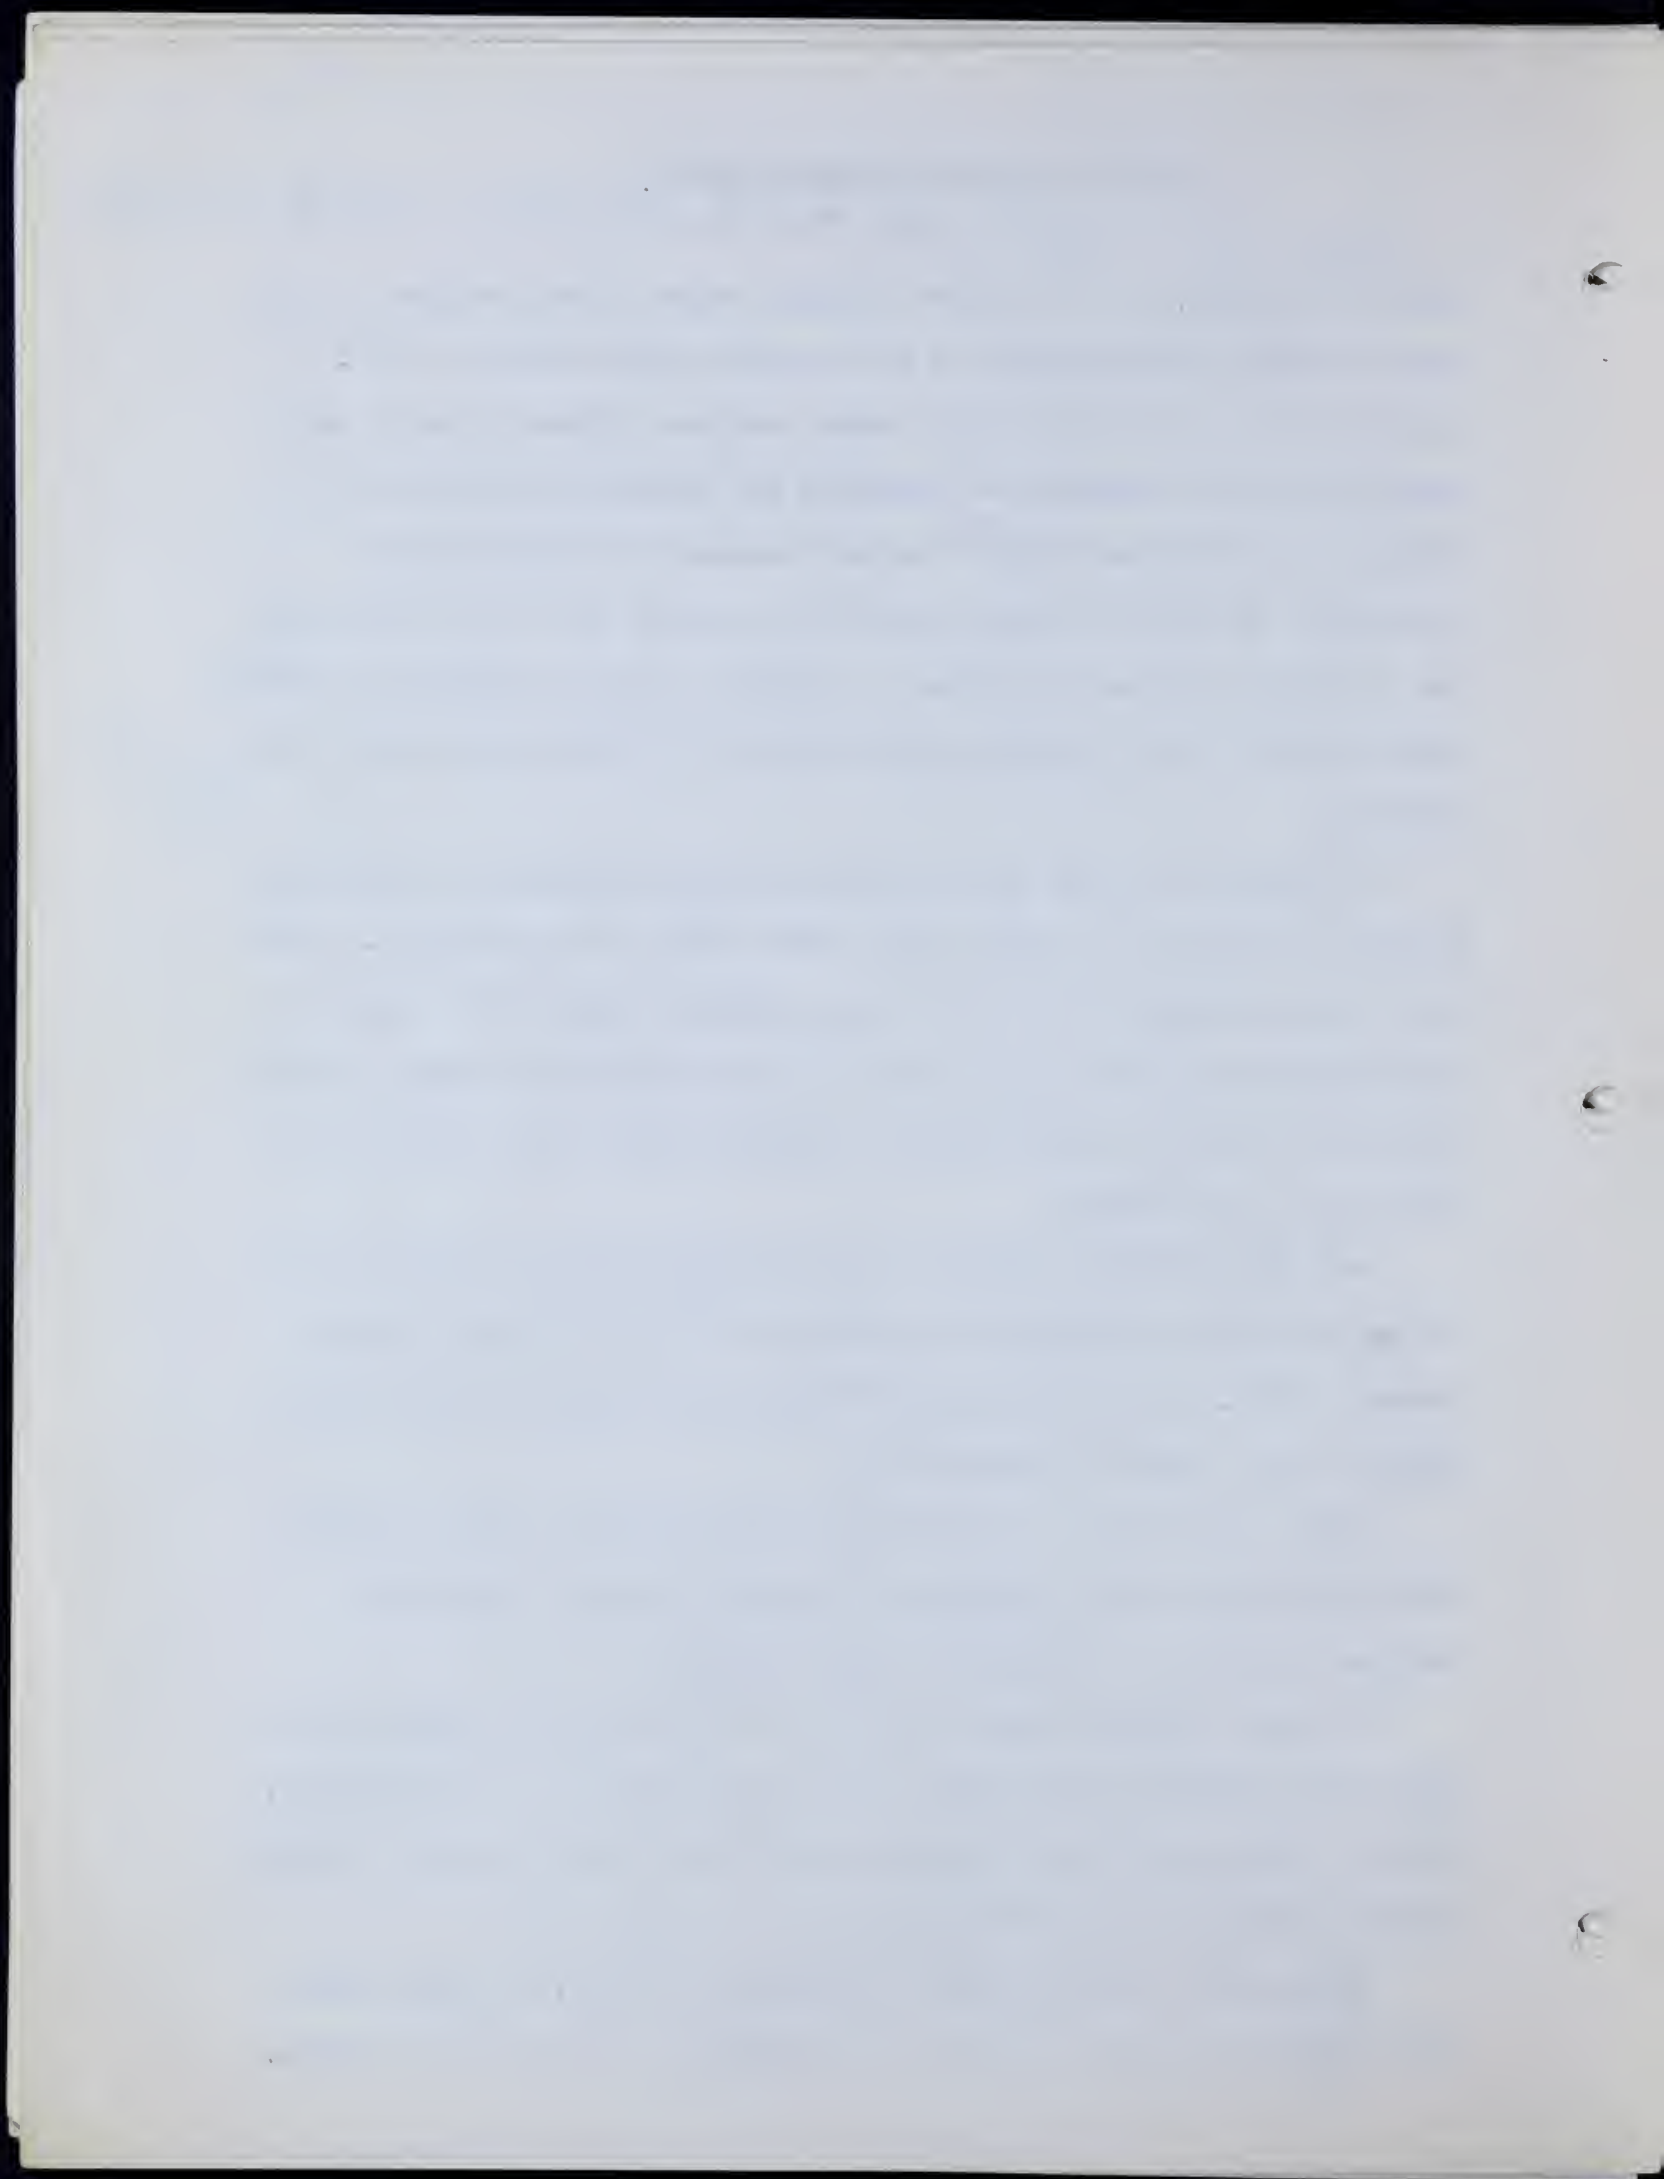

What action William Bell took ~~on~~ is not known, but he likely was one of the two persons of that name recorded as within the British lines in Canada in 1781. The other was undoubtedly William, Junior, who had joined Rogers' King's Rangers in April, 1780.

Duncan, the second son, apparently remained in Fort Edward with his mother and sisters until September, 1781, when he entered Canada with Sergeant Clauson as a recruit for Rogers' Rangers.

The sons, William, Junior, and Duncan ascended the St. Lawrence River with their regiment in the Summer of 1781, and settled in Fredericksburgh. William, Senior, no doubt, returned to Fort Edward for his family, settling in Fredericksburgh in the following year.

William Bell, Senior, appears to have died in 1783. His wife, Flora, died in 1795. They were survived by six children, two boys and four girls.

29 Sept 1787

They were

William, Junior, of Rogers' King's Rangers, who married Anne Carscallen.

Duncan, of Rogers' King's Rangers, who married Ann Drisco.

Jane, born in 1765, wife of Andrew Gentry.

Eleanor (Ellin), who married Asa Hough in 1790.

Isabella, who married, first, in 1794, John Mills, and, second, in 1801, Martin Hough.

Ann, who married, in 1788, Lambert Van Alstine.

All left descendants, many of whom still reside in the Bay of Quinte area.

There is another list of persons entitled List of Loyalists of and attached to the Kings Late Rangers Victualled at the 3rd Township above Ceteragui (Fredericksburgh), Between 1st July & 31st August 1786, Inclusive

It is apparent, after reviewing this list, that William Bell Senior and family arrived between October 1784 and 1st July 1786. This definitely proves that he had left the Unit in St. John to go to Fort Edward to settle the troubles and to return with his family to their new home on the Bay of Quinte to say good bye to his first home on the hill beside the cool clear spring and to lead his wife and the girls to a new home on the Bay of Quinte.

Atop the hill and close to the old military road leading to Fort Anne the small, log tavern of Loyalist William Bell stood near a spring of clear cold water. Bell's two sons, Duncan and William Junior, were at work hilling corn on July 27th when a number of Indians came skulking through the cornfield, breaking off stalks and chewing and sucking the juice. They asked the way to Fort Edward and Duncan ~~and~~ was sent to guide them, but upon sighting a party of rebels the Indians motioned him to return home.

Page 33 Following the surrender of Saratoga the victorious Patriots descended upon the Loyalists. Many under suspicion were removed to the interior from the areas where they might afford assistance to British scouts. William Bell, tavern keeper near Fort Edward, spent many months in Albany gaol before being discharged on recognizance for good behavior. However, the Committee of Safety, on which Noah Payne of Fort Miller was sitting, ruled that "as the above mentioned William Bell lives upon the Frontiers and has it in his power to aid and comfort, the enemy resolved that he be ordered to remove into the Interior Parts of this State by the first day of April next (see Minutes of Commissioners pp 508, 596, 633) His sons William Junior and Duncan were soon off to Canada to join Rogers' Rangers

It seems strange that William Bell and his sons waited until 1780 to depart for Canada, while hundreds of their compatriots had gone in the autumn of 1777 after Burgoyne's defeat.
 And when we understand that the family had been only four years in America when the rebel troops came hurrying down the banks of the Hudson River after their failure to capture Quebec. It must have been their stubborn Scottish nature that made them cling to the hill at Fort Edward, ^{and} suffering from the scorn and abuse of their Rebel neighbors.

It is recorded in the Haldimand Papers that William Jr had been enticed by Sergt. Clauson to go with him to St John and where they arrived on 1780 as a recruit for Rogers' Kings Rangers.

It is equally strange why his younger brother Duncan departed for Canada where he arrived 4 August 1781 with Sergt. Clauson, a recruiting messenger.

There is no known record of William Bell, Senior's arrival in St John. But it must have been shortly after his release from the Albany ^{Gaol. on 19 Feb 1781} ~~prison~~. He would have been about 45 years of age as he left the Gaol and about 36 when he departed from Scotland.

There is no known record of William Bell, Senior's arrival in St John, Quebec. But it must have been shortly after his release from Albany Gaol on 19th Feb. 1781. It would appear that his wife and daughters remained at Fort Edward under the care of his younger son, Duncan, who did not come to Canada until 4 August 1781 with Sergt Clauson, a recruiting spy as a recruit for the King's Rangers.

A clearer insight into their length of service is found in the Haldimand Papers, showing a list of the King's Rangers in Jan 1782. This entry shows

Wm Bell (Junior) age 22 yrs 2 mos. 5' 11" 1 yr 8 mo service ^{enl} May 1780 Duncan Bell age 22 5' 9" 0 5 " " July 1781
 but did not arrive in St John until 4 August

It is known that William Bell Junior had enlisted in Rogers' Kings Rangers in May 1780. He is recorded on a list of Kings Rangers on 18th June 1782. W^m Bell (Junior) born in Castleton, aged 22 years and 2 months 5' 11" in height and having 1 year & 8 months service. His brother Duncan is recorded at the same time as Duncan Bell, for Albany Co. aged 22 years 5' 9" in height with 5 months service.

In subsequent lists they are shown without families. Nor is there any mention of W^m Bell, Sr. anywhere in the Baldernand Papers, before Burgoyne's defeat or after his release from Sacol and his bond for behaviour. All of which leaves the suspicion that he never entered Canada until after the settlement of his sons along the Bay of Quinte.

The fact that there were 3 Bells, W^m W^m & Duncan listed with the refugees & soldiers exclusive of the upper posts in 1783 forces us to believe that one of them is W^m Bell - Junior.

William Bell Senior, died in August 1788, and his wife Flora, lived until November 1795.

Duncan Bell was born in Castleton, Scotland, about 1760. He accompanied the Bell family to America in 1772. He was losing corn at the time that the unfortunate Jane McCrae was shot, and helped to bury her on the Bell farm. Duncan accompanied his mother and sisters when they made their escape to Canada in 1781. He served in Rogers' King's Rangers until their discharge in December, 1783. He settled with his regiment in Fredericksburgh in the summer of 1784. At that time he was 24 years of age and unmarried. However he married Ann, daughter of Isaac Bousie, U.E., in

He is recorded as a resident in Fredericksburgh in 1808, at which time he had 200 acres of land, no house, 2 horses and 3 cows.

It seems rather strange that William Bell and his sons waited until 1780-81 to become soldiers in the Tory forces. They must have known that any American resident who had sought protection under Burgoyne's command, was privileged to seek shelter in British Camps in Canada, provided they did not don fighting equipment subsequently ^{rejoin} a fighting unit during ^{rest of the} the present war.

It is known that they remained in Fort Edward, no doubt because of being Scottish ~~men~~ and

Both W^r Sr & J^r are listed as Sgt's & Rangers in U & List

spring
water trickles down the slope. And where a log cabin supplied protection to his young family and to his farm animals. That was the reason for their departure from the shade of Roan Hill beside the lidded water, and for their aim to cling to the hill that overlooked Fort Edward

Without doubt the family offered their services as guides to General Burgoyne's Force. And as all other Scottish residents of Argyle town they sought protection as the battle progressed. Likewise, ~~the~~ when Burgoyne suffered defeat and surrender, they returned quietly to their homes, almost as if nothing had happened.

But the fact that they had sought protection with Gen Burgoyne, and acted as guides, irked the rebels of the community. And close observation brought out the suspicion that all was not well. And the fact that enemy territory was close at hand, it was decided to enforce the removal of suspicious persons to the more settled regions to the south.

It was not long until it became to place such persons in the Albany Gaol. One of these suspicious persons was William Bell who was imprisoned in 1780, and finally released as I have shown in February 1781. But, on his return to Fort Edward, it would appear that he remained in the area until his two sons had settled in Fredericksburgh Township in the Summer of 1784. Then, soon afterward, he and the remainder of the family made their way to settlement along the Bay of Quinte.

Dear Arthur:

I am pleased to be able to report that in a recent visit to Salt Lake City I came upon the Parish records of Castleton, Scotland. I found therein the following:

Date November 28, 1762 Christening Helen, daughter of
 William Bell
 Floria McCorquadale
 Residence: Castleton

Date May 2, 1767
 Elizabeth, daughter of
 William Bell

HISTORY OF

BELL FAMILY

1772 - 1960

Local Historian Completes Two- Year Project

11 Aug 1966
A genealogy of William Bell, parish of Castleton, Linsdale, Scotland, who emigrated to New York State in 1772, has now been completed by two well-known Lennox and Addington County citizens, Mrs. Mary Donovan, Tamworth, and Fred T. Bell, of Moscow.

This work traces the movements of William Bell from that year, when he set sail for the New World, bearing with him a letter from Robert Rutherford, minister of the parish of Castleton, commending William Bell, his wife and five children, and sister, Isobel, to the benefits of the church and the community wherever fate might deliver them. Fate did take a hand in this family's destiny. An old British soldier like William was not popular with the newly-forming citizens of the Republic so in 1772 under the Burgoyne manifesto, he with his family moved to the Bay of Quinte area where he settled on one of the first lots available there.

The letter of recommendation, a set of silver shoe buckles, and William's sword are now in the possession of Fred Bell. These along with a love of family history, motivated the present work. Working with him was Mrs. Mary Donovan, who through her 87 summers had amassed a great deal of information on various family connections. Her bright, retentive mind has helped greatly in reading the final drafts before they were sent to Centreville for printing by the "Grindstone".

While no acknowledgements are made, the authors are grateful to the many descendants of this early Canadian settler who have sent in information on their individual families from all parts of the United States and Canada. The correspondence offers striking evidence of the widely-spread movements of one Canadian family over the time span of 188 years. The history also reflects the many local families which are distantly related to each other through inter-marriage over the same time span.

The genealogy is now available through either of the co-authors at its cost price: $2.

N O T E

We, being rather inexperienced writers, find that in making up a family history there is such a possibility for errors. Therefore, we are asking as this book goes out to different members of the clan, to note any errors or omissions the page it should be in, to drop us a line, enclosing a stamp for reply. We then would print a page or two. So be sure to write all errors a n d their corrections and mail to FRED T. BELL, Moscow, Ont.

We would have to wait for a few weeks to be sure that all replies were in before we would print t h e corrections.

Mimeographed by THE GRINDSTONE Centreville, Ontario.

On my 70th birthday, August 22nd, 1958 my son Howard Selwyn Bell made me a present of a lovely tooled leather portfolio, made by an inmate of Kingston Penitentiary. On the cover is engraved "the history of the Bell Family". That name "Bell" will be found in any telephone directory.

Mrs. Mary Donovan of Tamworth, and I have endeavored to compile the family history of one named William Bell, the first, who was born and married in the Parish of Castleton in Linsdale, Scotland.

So now the task I will assume is to give an account of the family of one man whom I shall call William Bell, the first, who was born and married in the Parish of Castleton in Linsdale, Scotland. When he emigrated to New York in 1772 he was given a certificate of good standing by his minister, Robert Rutherford and countersigned by William Elliot and James Armstrong, elders. I have this letter now in my possession and also photographic copies, and also the sword used by this old soldier. The letter reads as follows —

This testifies that the bearer hereof William Bell and his family consisting of himself, his wife and five children and his sister, Isobel, have lived in the neighborhood of the Parish of Castleton in Linsdale ever since their infancy having been born herein and are free from all public scandal or grounds of church censure to us known.

So far that we know, nothing wherefore they may not be received into any congregation or Christian Society where Providence may cast their lot and enjoy all christian privileges as found qualified. Notice also that the above mentioned William as head of the family was my personal friend and acquaintance and with whom I am sorry to part.

He was always known as a very good character and as far as I have known or observed, very deservedly, being always looked upon as a religiously well disposed and industrious man. A faithful and good worker which cannot fail to recommend him as I hereby do him and his family to the Protection of the Almighty to the favor and regard of every good man where here too his family may come.

In witness whereof this letter are written and given at Castleton manse this 3rd day of May 1772 and subscribed by —

Robert Rutherford, Minister
James Armstrong, Elder
William Elliott, Elder

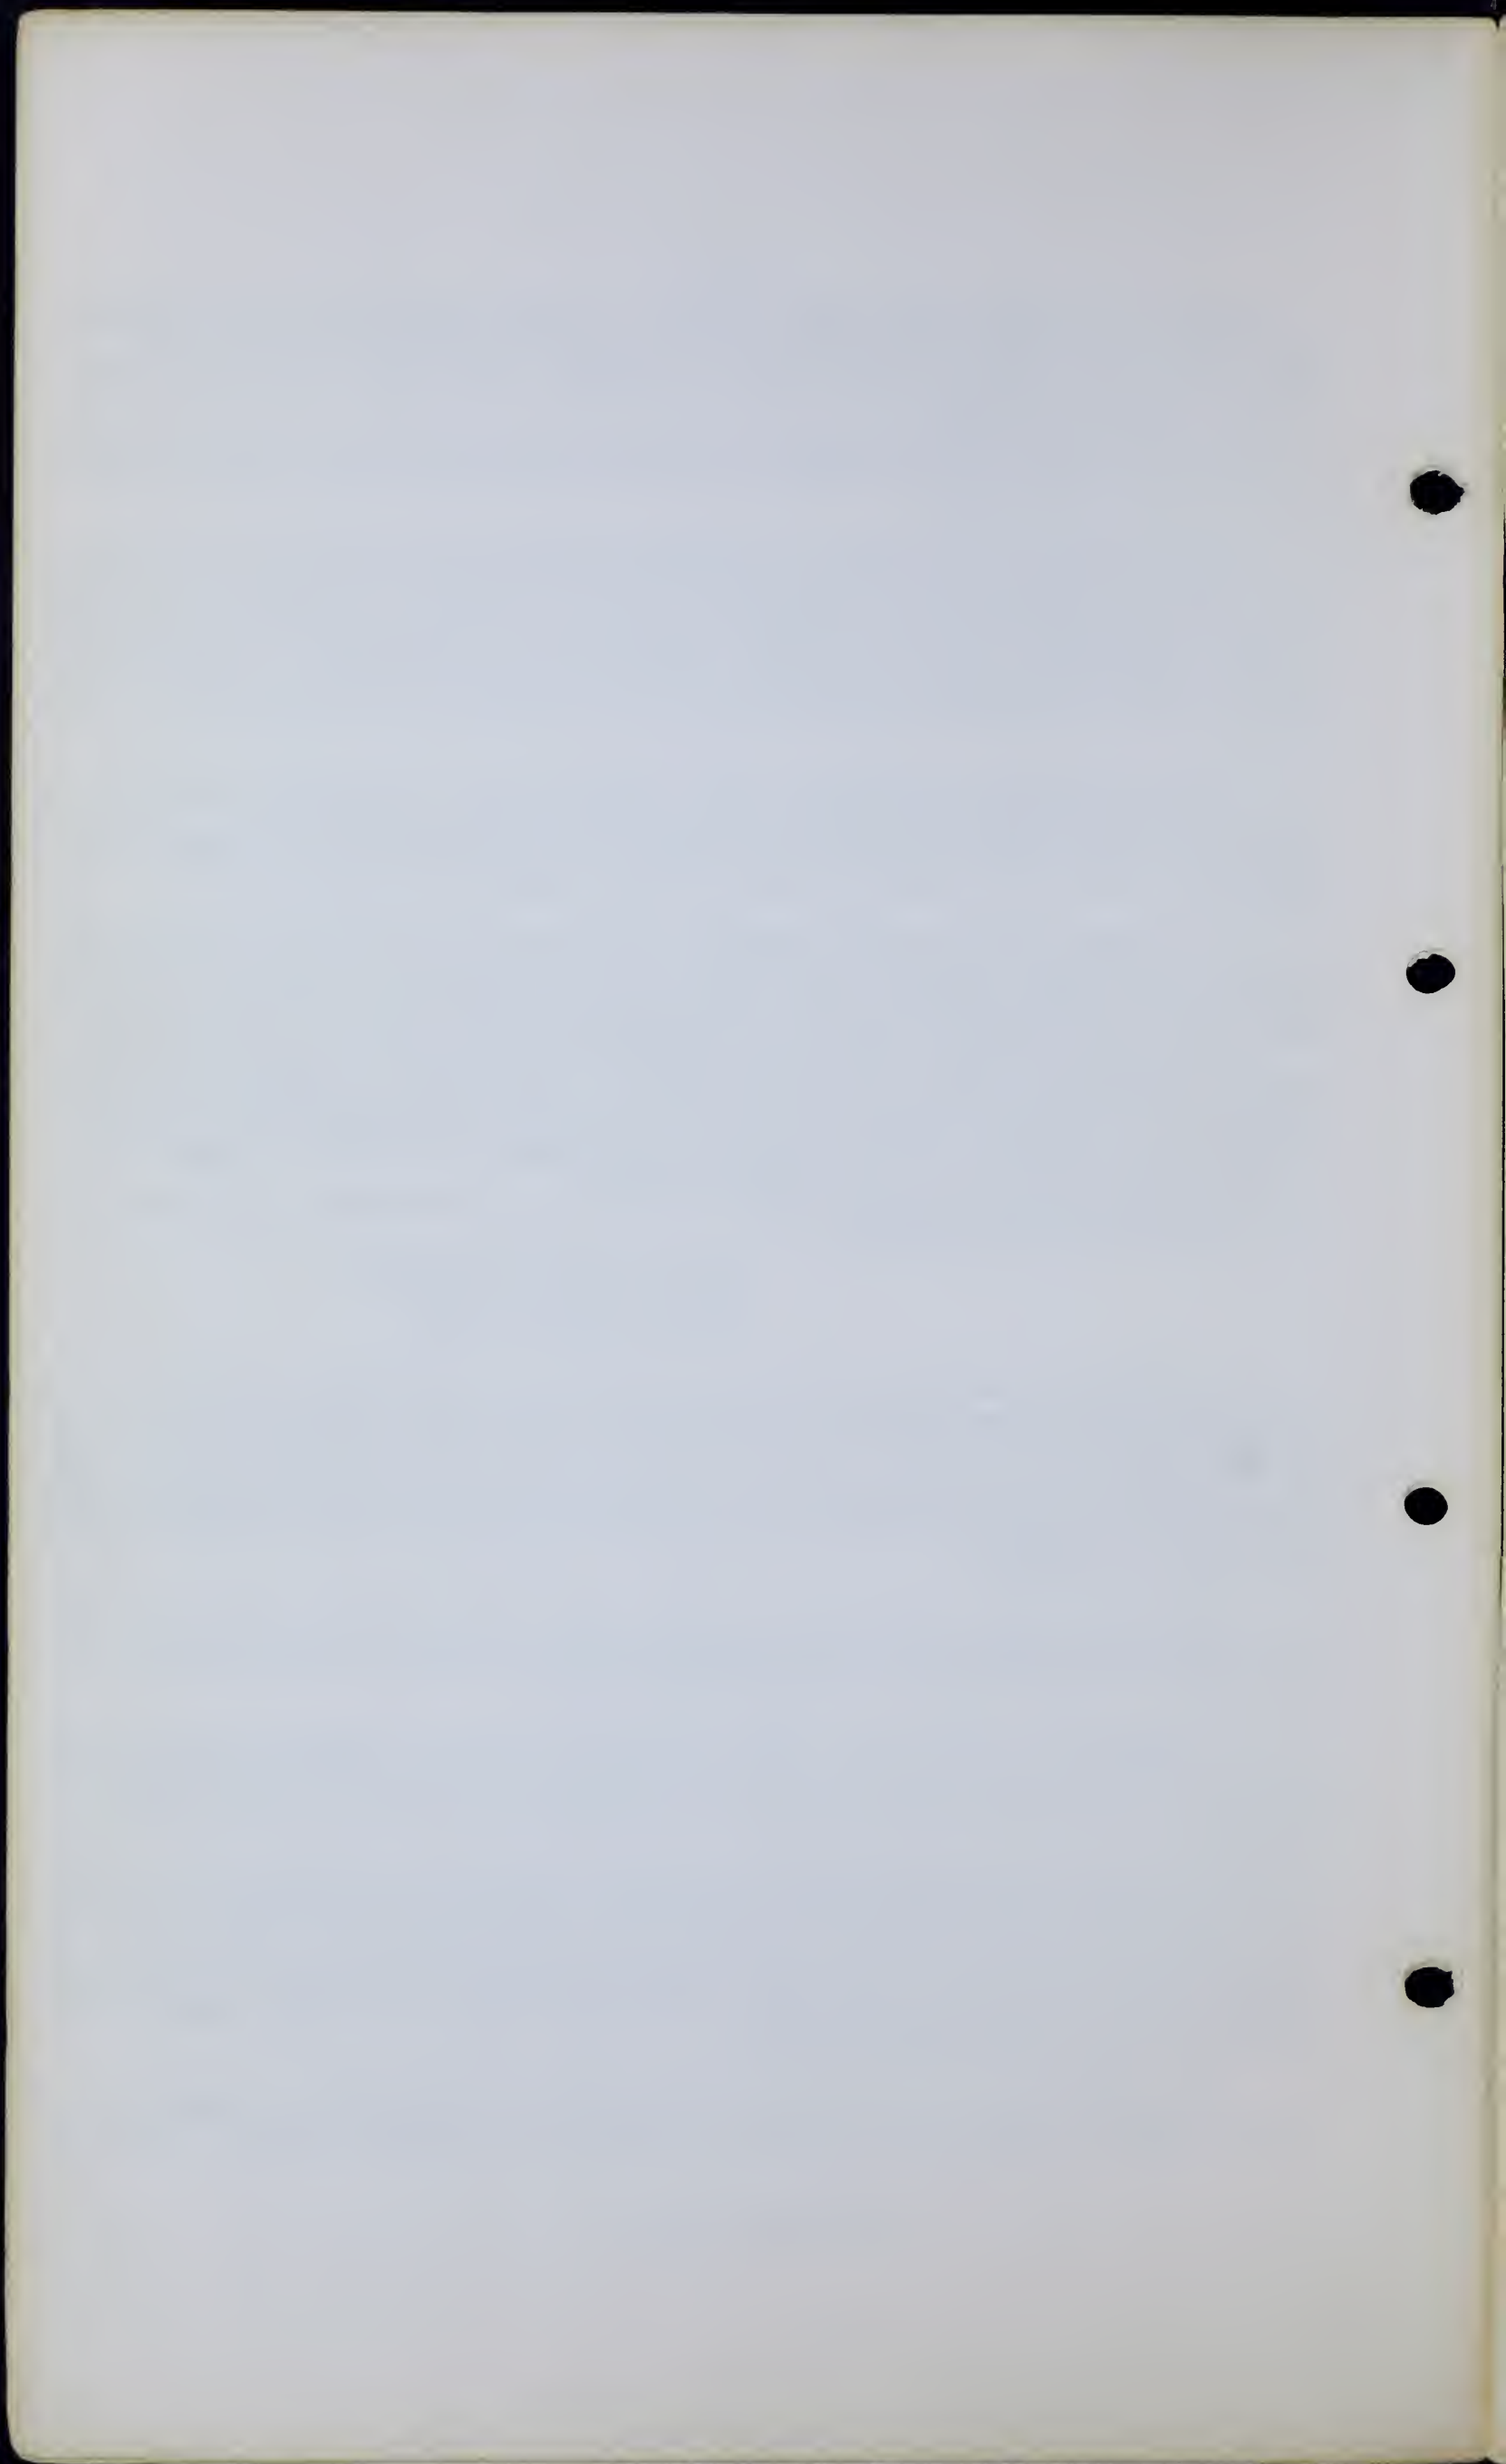

How this family spent the next few years we have no record, nor do we know how many boys or girls were included in this family of five. But at this time the American revolutionary war was on and as William Bell was an old British soldier and had seen action in some of the European wars he refused to take up arms against Britain. So what ever property he had accumulated was all confiscated and he and his family fled to Canada. The pass to Canada was issued at Fort Edward near Albany, N.Y., on August 5th, 1777 and worded as follows —

"Permit the bearer, William Bell of Argyle Town, to pass with his family and effects. He has taken the oath of His Excellency General Burygone manifesto and oath of allegiance at Fort Edward the 5th day of August 1777."

He appears to be one of the earliest settlers in the Bay of Quinte area. According to some verbal record handed down to me, he settled on Lot No. 1 Adolphustown. (Note: Some years ago several lots were taken off Adolphustown and added to South Fredricksburg.)

Another old Crown Lands record that there are two names of William Bell's. One recorded as a treasury loyalist and the other as a sergeant of Kings Rangers, New York. I take this as referring to his son, William Bell, the second. This record also refers to another William Bell who was an early settler in Thurlow township, and there is no record to say if they were any relation. This William Bell was a member of the Masonic Order, and his apron, spectacles and cane were in possession of a great grandson, W.W. Bell, who died in Cincinnati about 1928.

Now William Bell, the second, is said to have been 1st Captain of Militia forces in the County of Lennox. His commission was signed by H. Spencer, who was a member of the 1st Upper Canada Legislature. I think it would be about 1790 that he married Ann Carscallen, who was a daughter of Edward Carscallen who came with his wife and 1 child over from Ireland in 1755. Six more children were born in America, Ann being the youngest child.

The 1st Carscallen homestead is on the south side of Napanee River, about one mile from Napanee, and is now owned by a Mr. Frank McCutcheon.

I believe all the U.C.L. families received land grants when they came to Canada, to help in some small way to re-imburse them in their loss they suffered when (because of their refusal to bear arms against England) all their property was confiscated and they were forced to flee to Canada. As the result of this, the Bell family were given 1200 acres of land. Now 600 acres of this land was in the vicinity of Newburgh; 300 acres at Desmond; 100 acres in Portland Township and 200 acres which according to tradition is where the town of Collingwood now stands which was sold for $100.00.

When William Bell, the second, married Ann Carscallen, they came as pioneers to Newburgh and settled on a farm on south side of Napanee river about 1 mile east of Newburgh, and in a few years built that stone house now occupied by Percy Gerow.

To them were born 8 children. 6 boys and 2 girls. I think the boys age range were as follows; William, the third, David, James, John, Edward and Fraser. The two girls; Helen and Isabella. Fraser was the youngest of the family.

James Bell - 3rd generation - married and settled on a farm east of village and north of river, and about 1840 built a stone house right beside the railroad track, and is now vacant.

He had one son known as William A. He married a Miss Weir. There was no family and he died in his late forties. But during his lifetime took an active part in his community. He was in council, reeve and in 1879 was County Warden.

David Bell - 3rd generation - was the son of William Bell, the second. He married Alixia Word. I have never seen her name in writing, but father always referred to her as Aunt Lislia.

I think that Alpine Word was well known in Napanee for many years, first as a cheese box maker and also made a record as chairman of board of education was a nephew.

David and his wife settled on a 200 acre farm Lot 32 Con. 4 Camden on what was known for years as "Bell Hill". They never had any family but father has told me many stories of their great interest in "pets" of many kind and training them to do tricks. Also many stories of David's great strength. On one occasion when helping his brother James clear land, on land just north of Newburgh village and just between the old stone house, a bear attacked a bunch of pigs, trying to carry one off. Uncle David picked up a club and took after the bear which dropped the pig and started after him. Uncle James was watching and was so scared he coaxed uncle David to quit and run. But David swore that no bear would get away with a pig and he kept on clubbing and backing up and finally he finished him off, and as the bear dropped near David, he fell backwards over a log.

When David and his wife died the farm was left to a nephew, David, a son of William, the third. At that time it was a fine property as David had built a new house in 1847 and a fine frame barn, and father told me it was exceptionally well fenced. The swamp on shore of lake was one of the finest cedar swamps around, and David cut cedar to do the fencing.

Edward Bell - 3rd generation - Edward's wife was a girl named (I think) Gouzalons and her family lived south of Napanee. Edward and his wife lived on a farm they inherited on which his father, William, the second, had built the 1st stone house now owned by Percy Gerow, just east of Newburgh on Camden East road.

They had a family of 3 boys; William, John and Jacob, and 2 girls; Moria and Annie. The oldest girl, Moria, married a James Hogeboon and for many years lived about 1 mile east of Bicknells Corner, south of Camden East.

The Hogeboon's had 3 children, Joe, Edward and Minnie. Joe's was raised on Amherst Island and they lived all their married life on the Island. They had a family of 3 boys and one girl, Isobel. She married Morrison Scott and now lives at Morven.

Edward Hogeboon in early manhood moved with his father and mother from Camden East

Isabella dau. of Joseph to a farm at Conway on the shore of Bay of Quinti, and this was not very far from the spot where his great grandfather, William Bell, the first, had originally settled the Bell family.

Edward was quite a bachelor when he married Louise Chalmers. She was a descendant of one of the oldest U.E.L. families in the township. They had 2 children, Wallace and Jean. Jean trained for a nurse and then married Robert Russell of the Russell Bros groceries and at present it is the nicest grocery store in Napanee. They have 3 children.

Wallace married a nursing chum of his sister Jean. Her name was Jane Alton, and her home was in Lampton County. He now lives on No.2 highway, 1 mile west of Napanee and have 4 children. Wallace is a inside decorator and painter.

Minnie in 1900 married Edward Fraser Bell, her second cousin, and son of A.B. Bell. They had 2 daughters, Pauline, born in April 1902 and was married and had children. She was divorced and the last I heard of her she was a school teacher with the American expeditionary forces in Germany. I have learned later she is on staff of girls school in Tallor House, and her name is Mrs. Ewe.

Tallahassee Fla
Now Annie Bell next. She is Edward Bell's youngest daughter and married a man by the name of Charters. They lived a greater part of their life in Prescott. They had two children and the only one I knew was Hope Charters who visited us on several occasions and has been married twice. She is now recuperating from a cancer operation and divides her time between Prescott and Florida. She has no family.

3 sons of Edward Bell were John, Joe and William. As far as I know and have been told, John and Joe went out west years ago, did not marry, and I don't know anything about them.

William, the fourth, remained on the homestead and I guess for some time was a gay bachelor. He got a job as chief of police for Napanee. I really don't know the details but I believe he lost this job then left for the state of Kentucky. There he married a well-to-do widow and seemed to live happily ever afterwards. They visited us in 1924 and it was from him that I got the old "Bell Letter" written in 1772; the old Bell sword and a few points of the Bell History. In latter years he was referred to as "Kentucky Bill".

Isabella Bell, third generation, daughter of William Bell, the second, was married to Peter Embury and I know they had two sons, James and William. Maybe more, I don't know. James learned blacksmith trade and at one time worked in Bellrock. I don't know if he had any children or not.

William married my grandmothers sister, Euphemia Mowbray. He was born in 1820, his wife 1819 and they were married in 1848. They had one daughter, Margaret, and she married Alvin Switzer, he would be a brother of Joshua, Mrs. William Montgomery and others. A first cousin of Fred Switzer's grandfather, James C. Switzer and a great grandson of the first Philip Switzer, the first white man in the community.

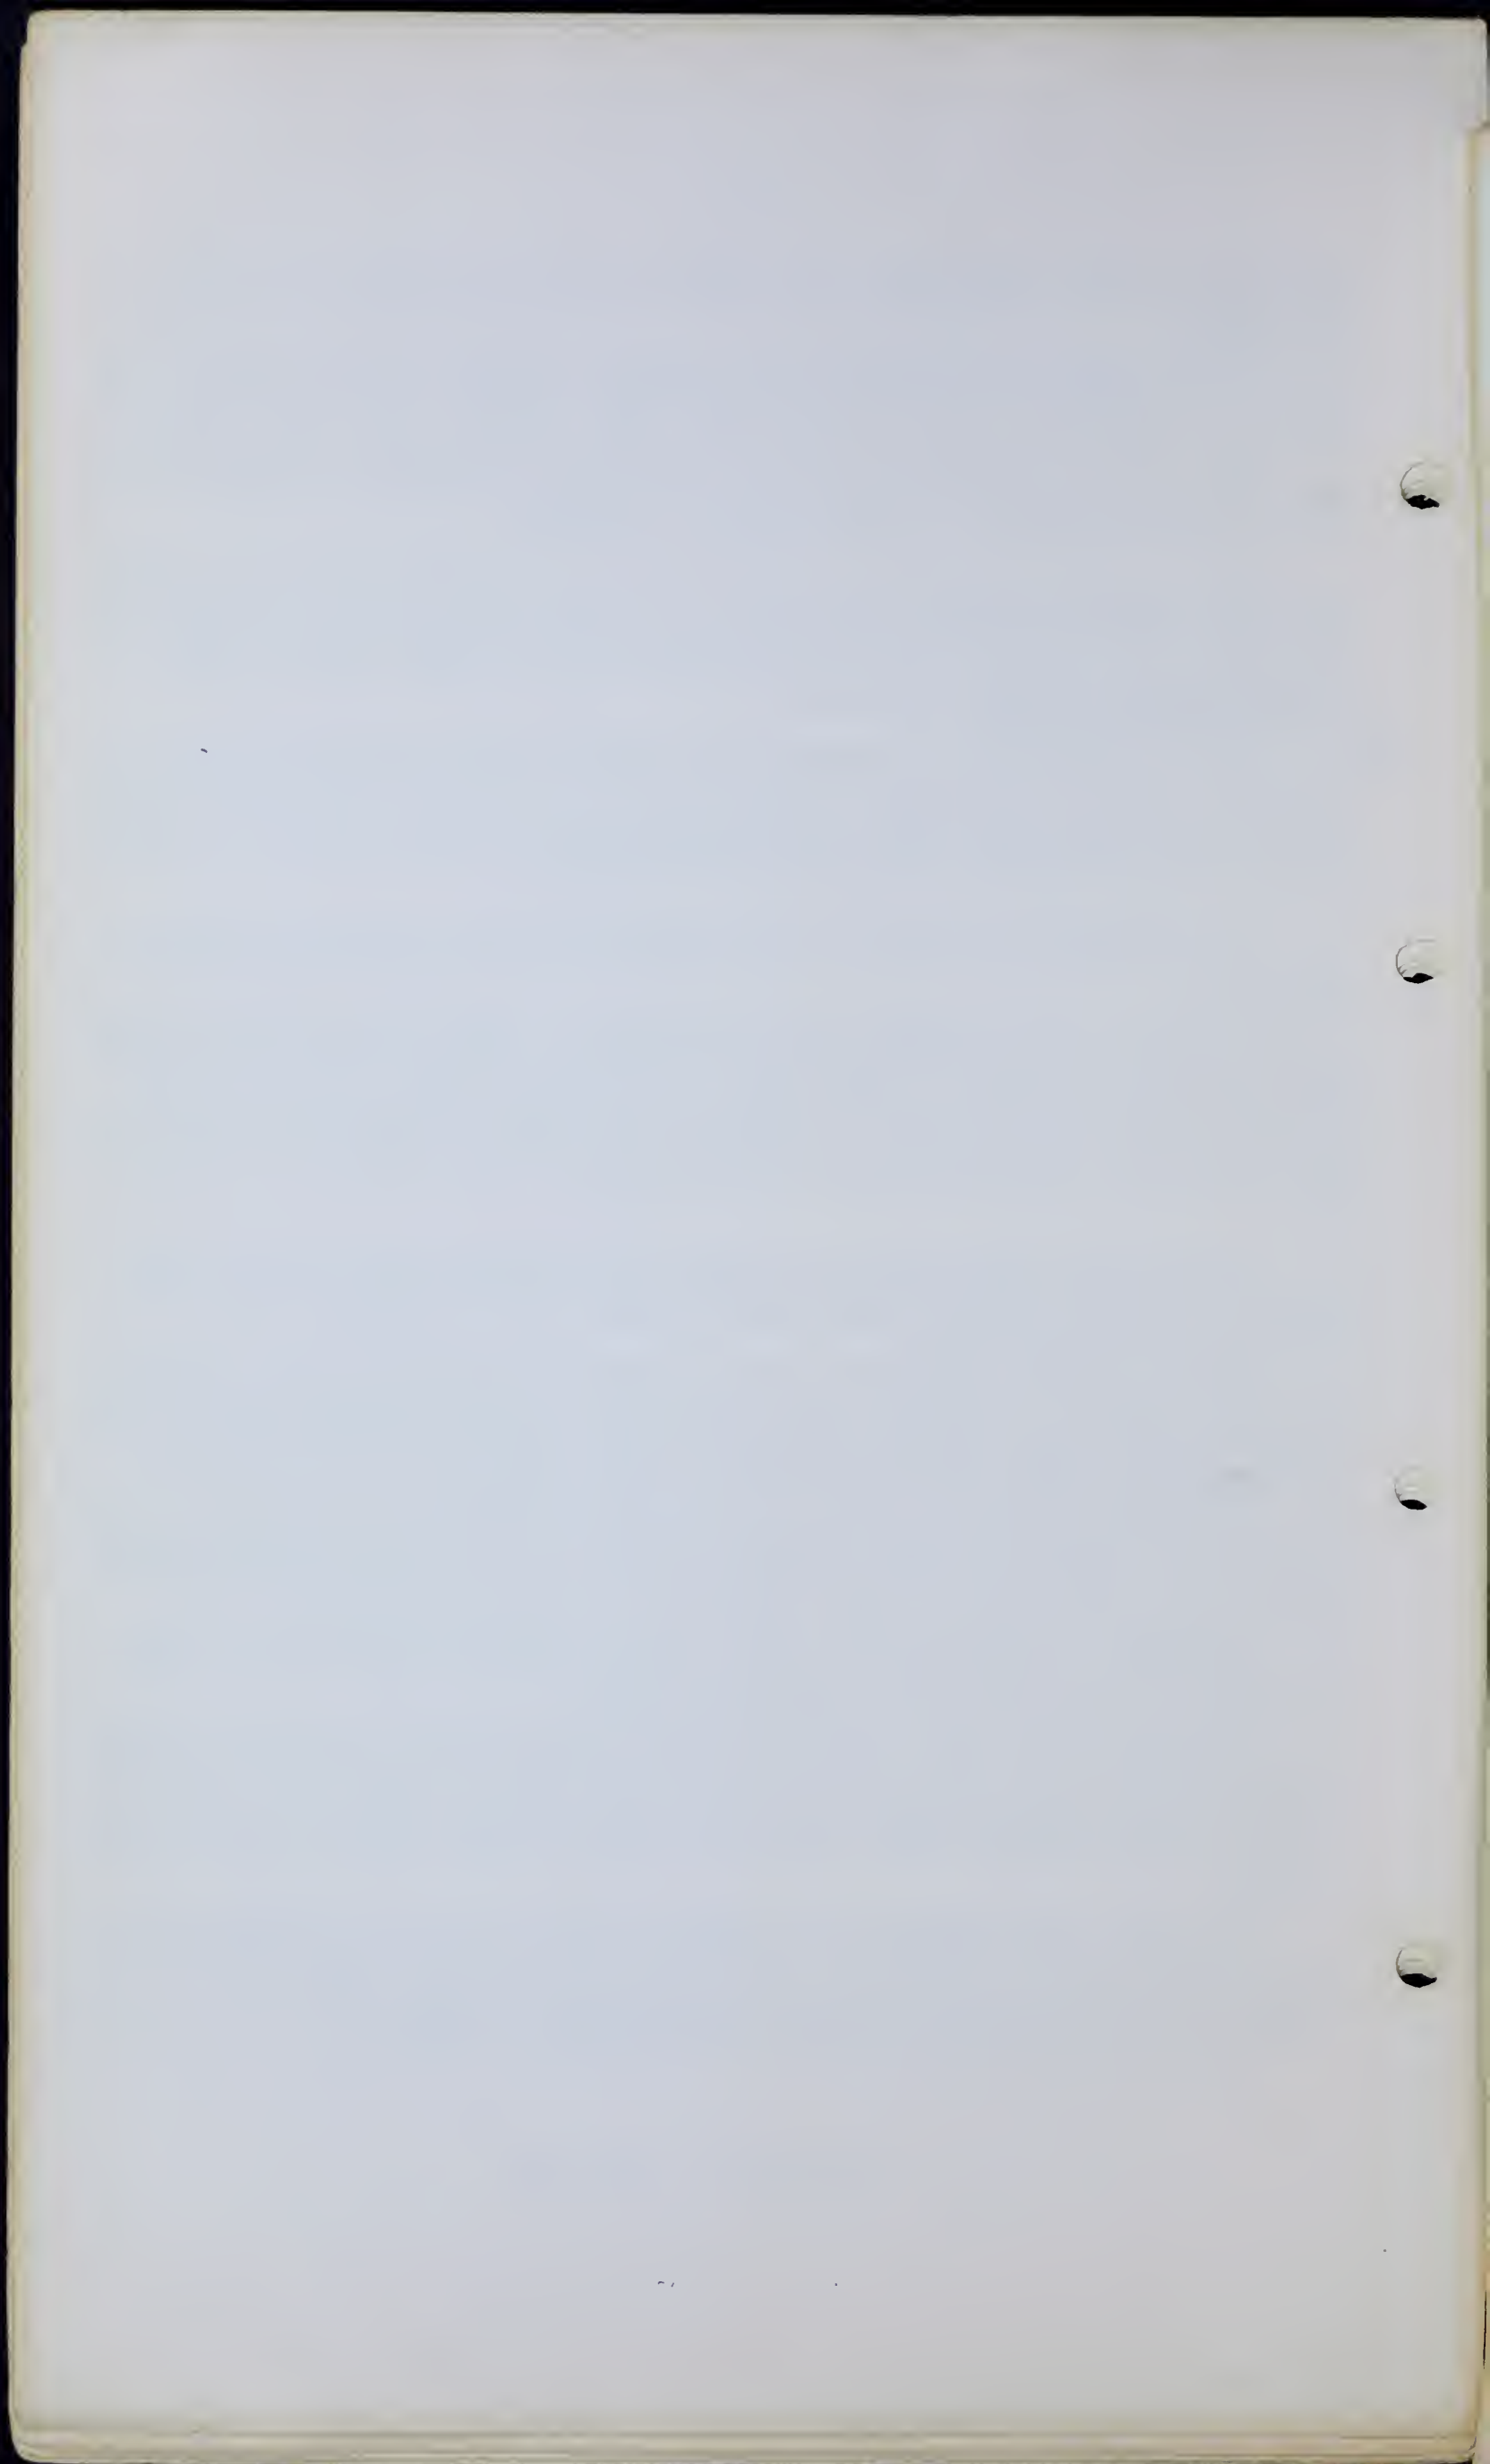

Shortly after their marriage Alvin and Margaret moved up near Bobcaygen. I believe they had 3 children, Athol, Euphemia and Edward. When I was at the United Church conference in Lindsay in 1952 I met folks from that area and talked to them regarding these folks, and they knew an Edward Switzer. He was 2 years older than I.

Peter Embury and his wife lived their lifetime in this community, part of this time would be on the east side and south end of Harvey Doudle's farm. They are buried in south west corner of the Bell cemetery at Desmond.

William Embury and wife also lived on this farm, but their house, which I remember well, was on the north side of the ditch north of Harvey Doudle's east barn Lot 32 Con. 3. William died in 1897, his wife then came out and lived in a small house just below Desmond school. It was torn down about 1915. In 1904 old age found her to go and live with her daughter Margaret. When she died her body was brought back and buried in Bell cemetery.

Helen Bell, third generation, and daughter of William Bell, the second, Helen was born February 21st, 1792 and in 1816 she was married to Mathias Switzer, who would be a son of Philip Switzer, the first. I believe they lived the rest of their life on the farm at the foot of Switzer's Hill where Harvey Doudle now lives.

They had 12 children, oldest born in 1817, youngest in 1838. Names of the children

Please Note: How this Helen Bell included the Bell names in her family. Her child William McCorquedale Bell born 1821 died when a very small boy. So when a baby came along in 1831 they named him William Bell Switzer. So you will note beside using the name William she used the name Bell as a second name for 4 of her boys.

Now for some details of some of Helen Bell's family. I think some of them died young and unmarried. However I do know a little about 4 of them. I think it was Helen who married an Empey and I know they had one son, James Empey and he lived at Switzerville. I remember him being killed by a bull. He had a son, John T. Empey, who married and went to California. He had two daughters, Lucy and Effie. Lucy married Arthur Parrott and they lived all their married life at Switzerville. They had one daughter, Hazel who was married to Rev. Claude Brethen, who died in 1955. I think they had two children. Effie is a nurse and never married. She may still be living in California.

Now we will take Helen's son, William Bell Switzer. He was born in 1831, and married to Lydia Collier. They had three children, Lewis Coleman Switzer, born 1860 and died in 1928. Augusta, born 1863 and died in 1912, and Stella. ³⁻⁸

Lewis Coleman married Moria Lawrence in 1882 and had 3 children, Charles Secord, born on February 28th, 1884; Arthur John, born on October 11th, 1885 and Lena Myrtle, born in 1893.

Coleman's son Charles married Pearl Coburn in 1907 and had 4 children, Evelyln, Edna, Ethelbert and Ila.

Evelyln married A. Smith and has had 4 sons. Three of their sons have studied for the Baptist ministry. Ethelbert married and lives in Detroit and has 4 sons.

Augusta Switzer, daughter of William Bell Switzer, was born in 1862 and married to Jacob McDonald and had six children, Albert born in 1884, Etta born in 1886, Wylie born in 1888, Rubeum, Roy and Harold.

Albert married Lillian Davey, no family, taught school at Milsap and Enterprise, died in 1912. Etta married Will Davey and has two sons and have lived all their married life in Moose Jaw and all the rest of family have lived there for years except Wylie who was married to Theresa Boye in 1914 and lived at Odessa for years. Stella Switzer was married to Alfred Snider and had no family.

Geir Philip Switzer was born in 1820 and married to a Switzer from Switzerville and settled on a farm at Mud Lake, where our cattle pass is. At one time there was a real good set of buildings on this farm. The barn was 36 x 48 lintel, the house is made into a hog pen and drive house. Our tool shed was a shingle mill.

They had 4 children, Margaret Ann, Wellington, Horton, and Margaret was the 1st Mrs. Lorenzo Ruttan and mother of Byron Ruttan who lived at Wilton untill he died a few years ago.

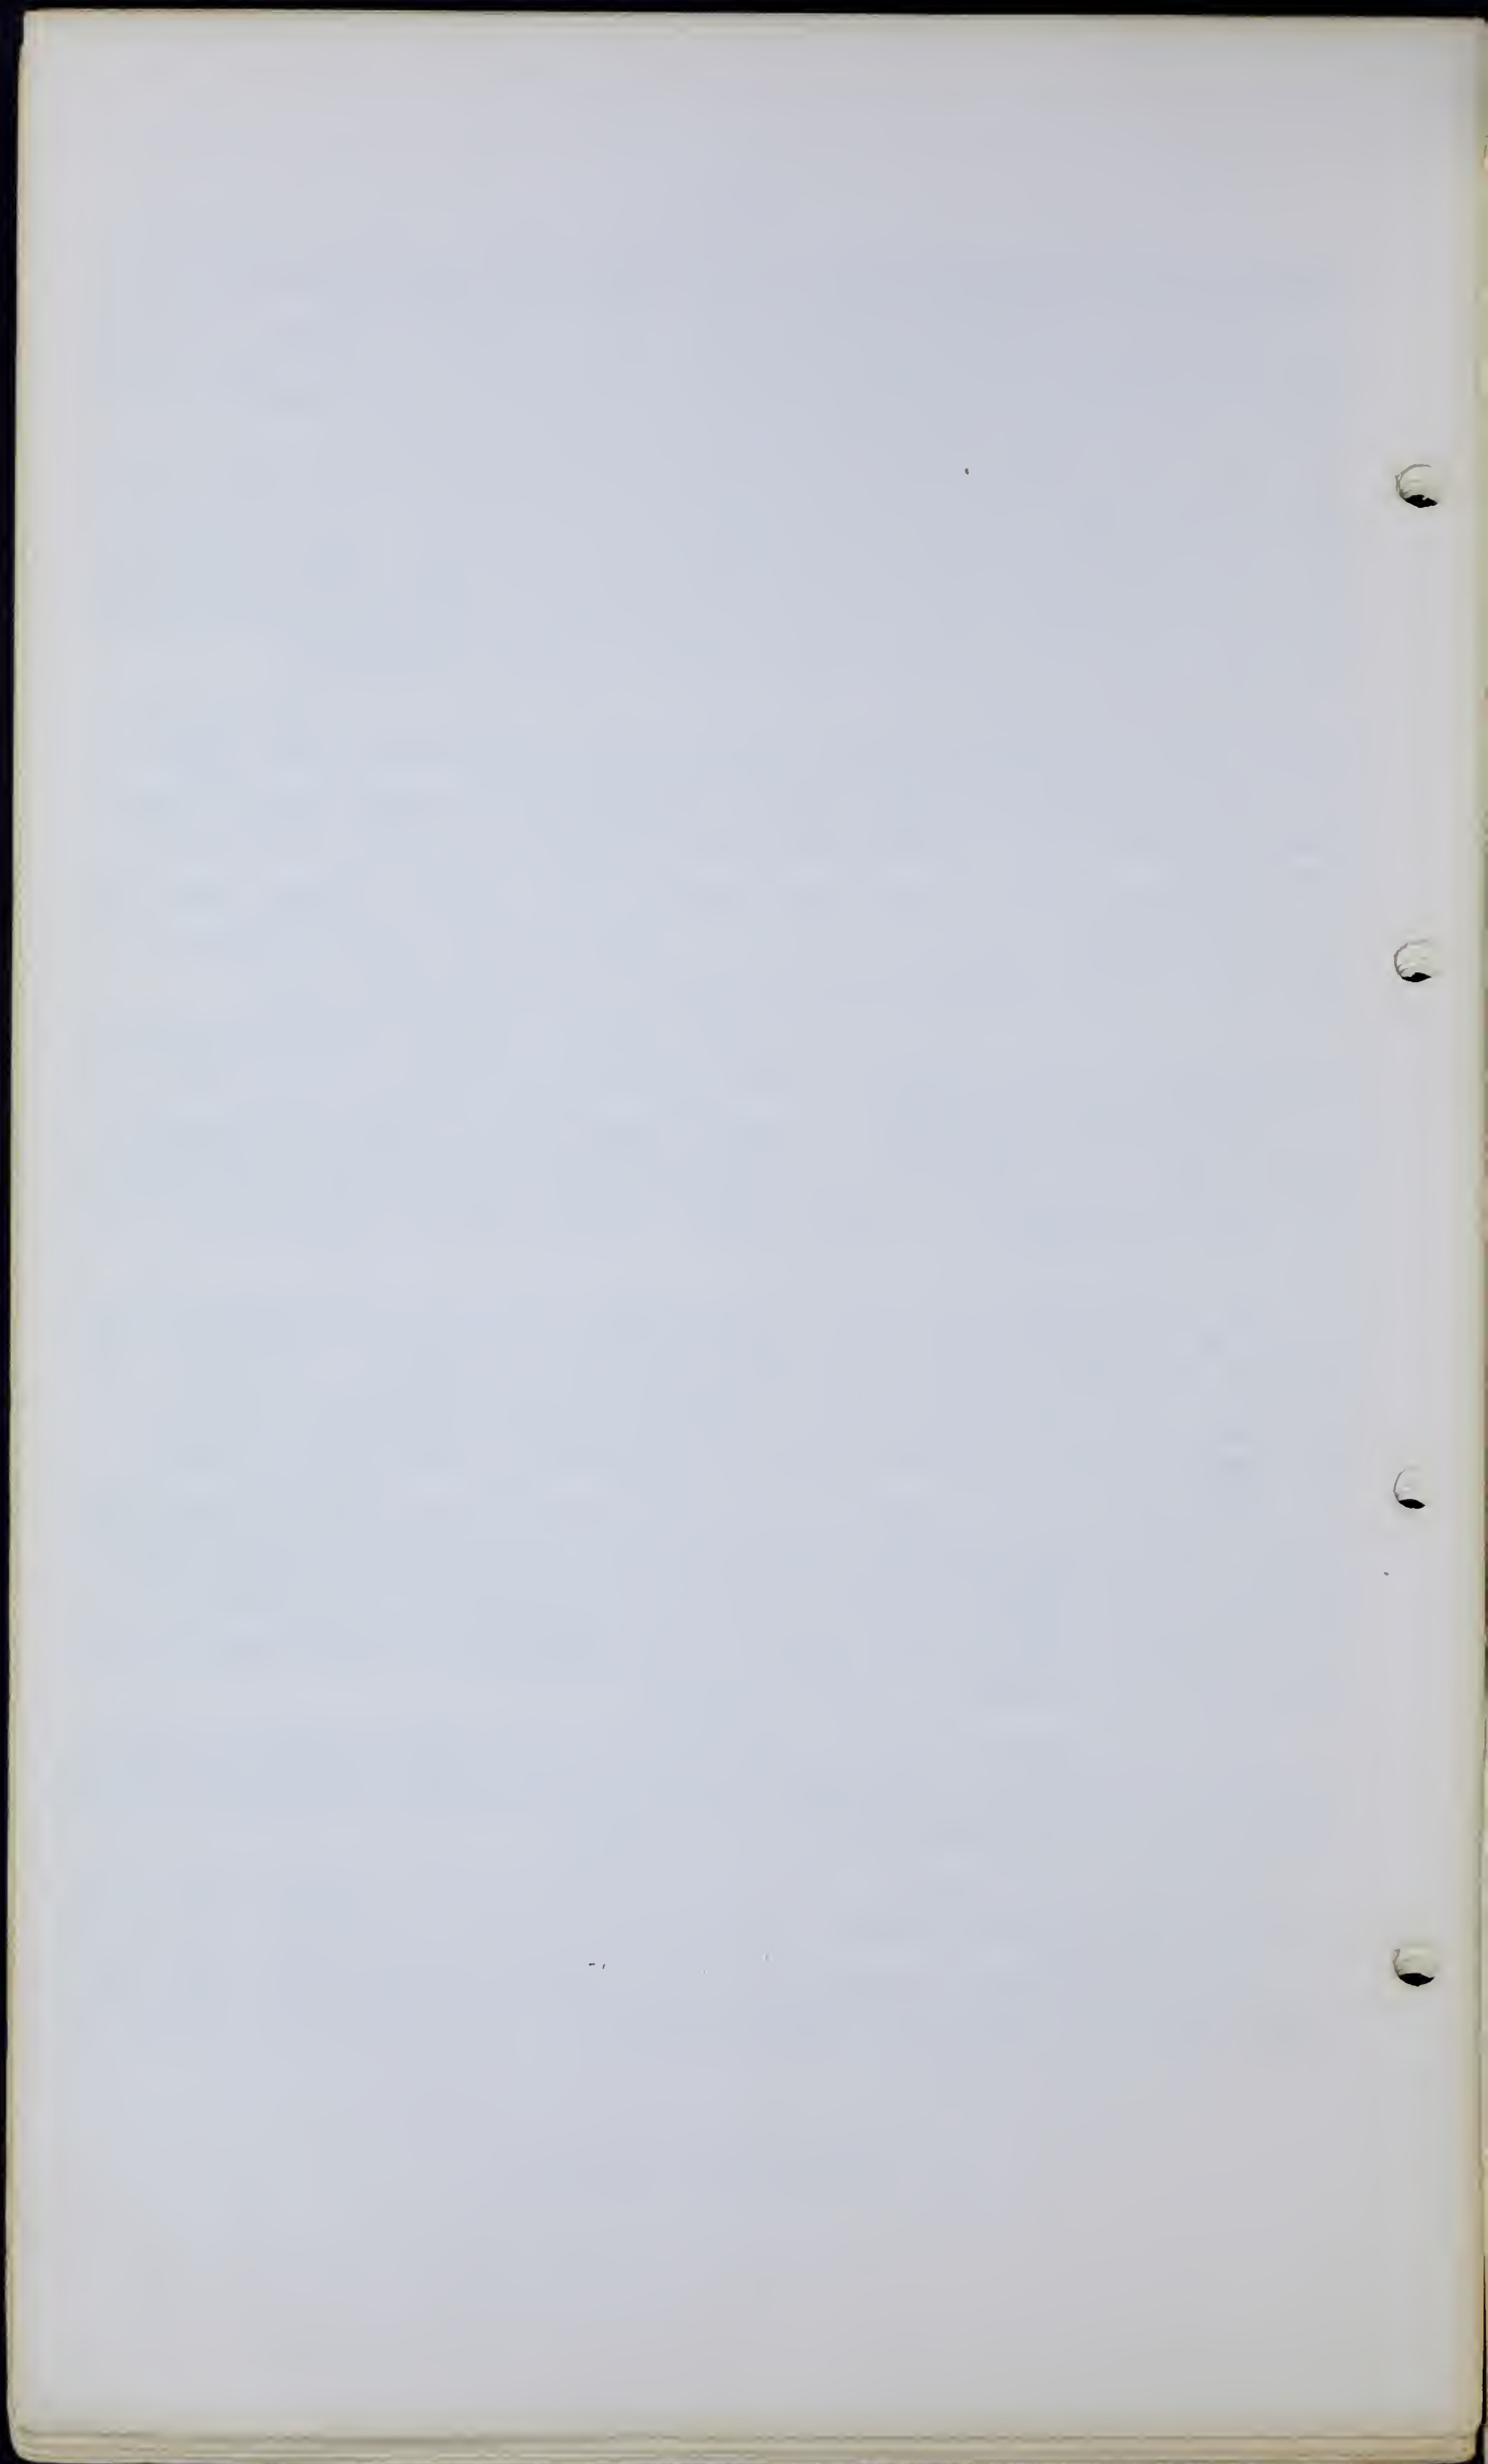

Wellington was born in 1856 and married Lydia Patterson and had two children. Ethel born in 1877 and Geier in 1885. Ethel has been the wife of Rev. Hadleigh Chant in Wisconsin, and at present time their son has one of the largest churches in Minneapolis. They also have 3 daughters. Geier Jr. has lived in the Province of Saskatchewan for years and now at a place called Corrine. He has 4 daughters.

Horton was a bachelor for many years and finally married an Annie Smith and then moved down to New Hampshire. They had no family.

James Bell Switzer was born in 1819 and must of been middle age when he married the widow of Dr. Purcell of Camden East. Her maiden name was Jane Dillenbeck. She was the mother of Aunt Julia Born who was born in 1837 and died in 1926, the wife of John W. Bell M.P. Mother and daughter were married to 1st cousins.

John Bell, 3rd generation, was the son of William Bell the second. He was married to a Miss Percy from near Inverary. I don't know the date, my guess would be about 1830. They had 10 children.

Now John unlike his 5 brothers and 2 sisters did not live his entire life on one farm. He spent some time over in Frontinect County and also on a farm now occupied by Henry Keech, Lot 35 Con. 5., south shore of Mud Lake.

Following are names of his family: James, David, the 2nd., William, Edward, John D. "Bowen", Robert, and 3 girls. I think their names were Hannah, Libbie and ?.

James Bell married and lived most of his life on a farm south-east of Colebrook on Lot 48, Con. 1.

He had a family of 3 girls and a son John A. Priscilla married a Mr. McLean, had a family of 2 boys. Emma never married. John A. also unmarried, for a great number of years was a Sunday school superintendent at Colebrook. Thalia was a school teacher and late in life became the 2nd wife of Stanley Bell. NOTE: In the above marriage Thalia's father (James and Stanley's grandfather David) were brothers).

David Bell, son of John Bell, was married 3 times. 1st to a daughter of Norris Switzer and they had 3 children, Philip, Martha and Mary Jane. All of their married life they lived on and worked her father's farm (now owned by Fred Switzer).

Philip (son of David) married Viola Jackson and had 2 sons, Stanley and Earl, and 2 daughters died in early life. For a few years when first married they lived in what is now an old log house at the bottom of Switzer's Hill, then they moved to a farm South-west of Enterprise, Lot 30 Con. 7.

Stanley (son of Philip) first married Effie Parks and had one son, Everton, who died in early life, and two daughters, Myrtle, who married Arthur Brun and had 1 daughter, Pearl, who married Glen Wagar. Stanley's daughter Blanche married Carman Peters of Wilton and have a family of 4 or more and I don't know their names.

Earl Bell (2nd son of Philip) was born in 1890 and married Floetta Kellar on Dec. 15th, 1909 and had 2 sons, Arthur, who married Madeline Whitmarsh and have 4 children, Raymond, Marilyn, Jean and John. The other son, Carman (second son of Earl Bell) married Louise Riley. They had no family and live in Toronto where he is employed on Street Railway.

Martha (daughter of David Bell) married Jeremiah Lockwood and lived all their life in Enterprise. Their son Wellington married Maud Jackson, and they had a son George. He married Viola Walroth and they have one daughter, Martha.

Martha (daughter of David Bell) was married and had a daughter, Lora Lockwood who was married to Arthur Switzer in 1909. Their Golden wedding anniversary was celebrated Dec. 15th 1959.

Mary Jane (daughter of David) married Elias Jackson and for many years they operated a wood and lumber business at the outlet east end of Mud Lake. They had one son, Norman. He married Ada of Enterprise and they had one daughter, Rita, who married Wellesley Coulter. They now live at Vines Corner, Napanee and have 4 children.

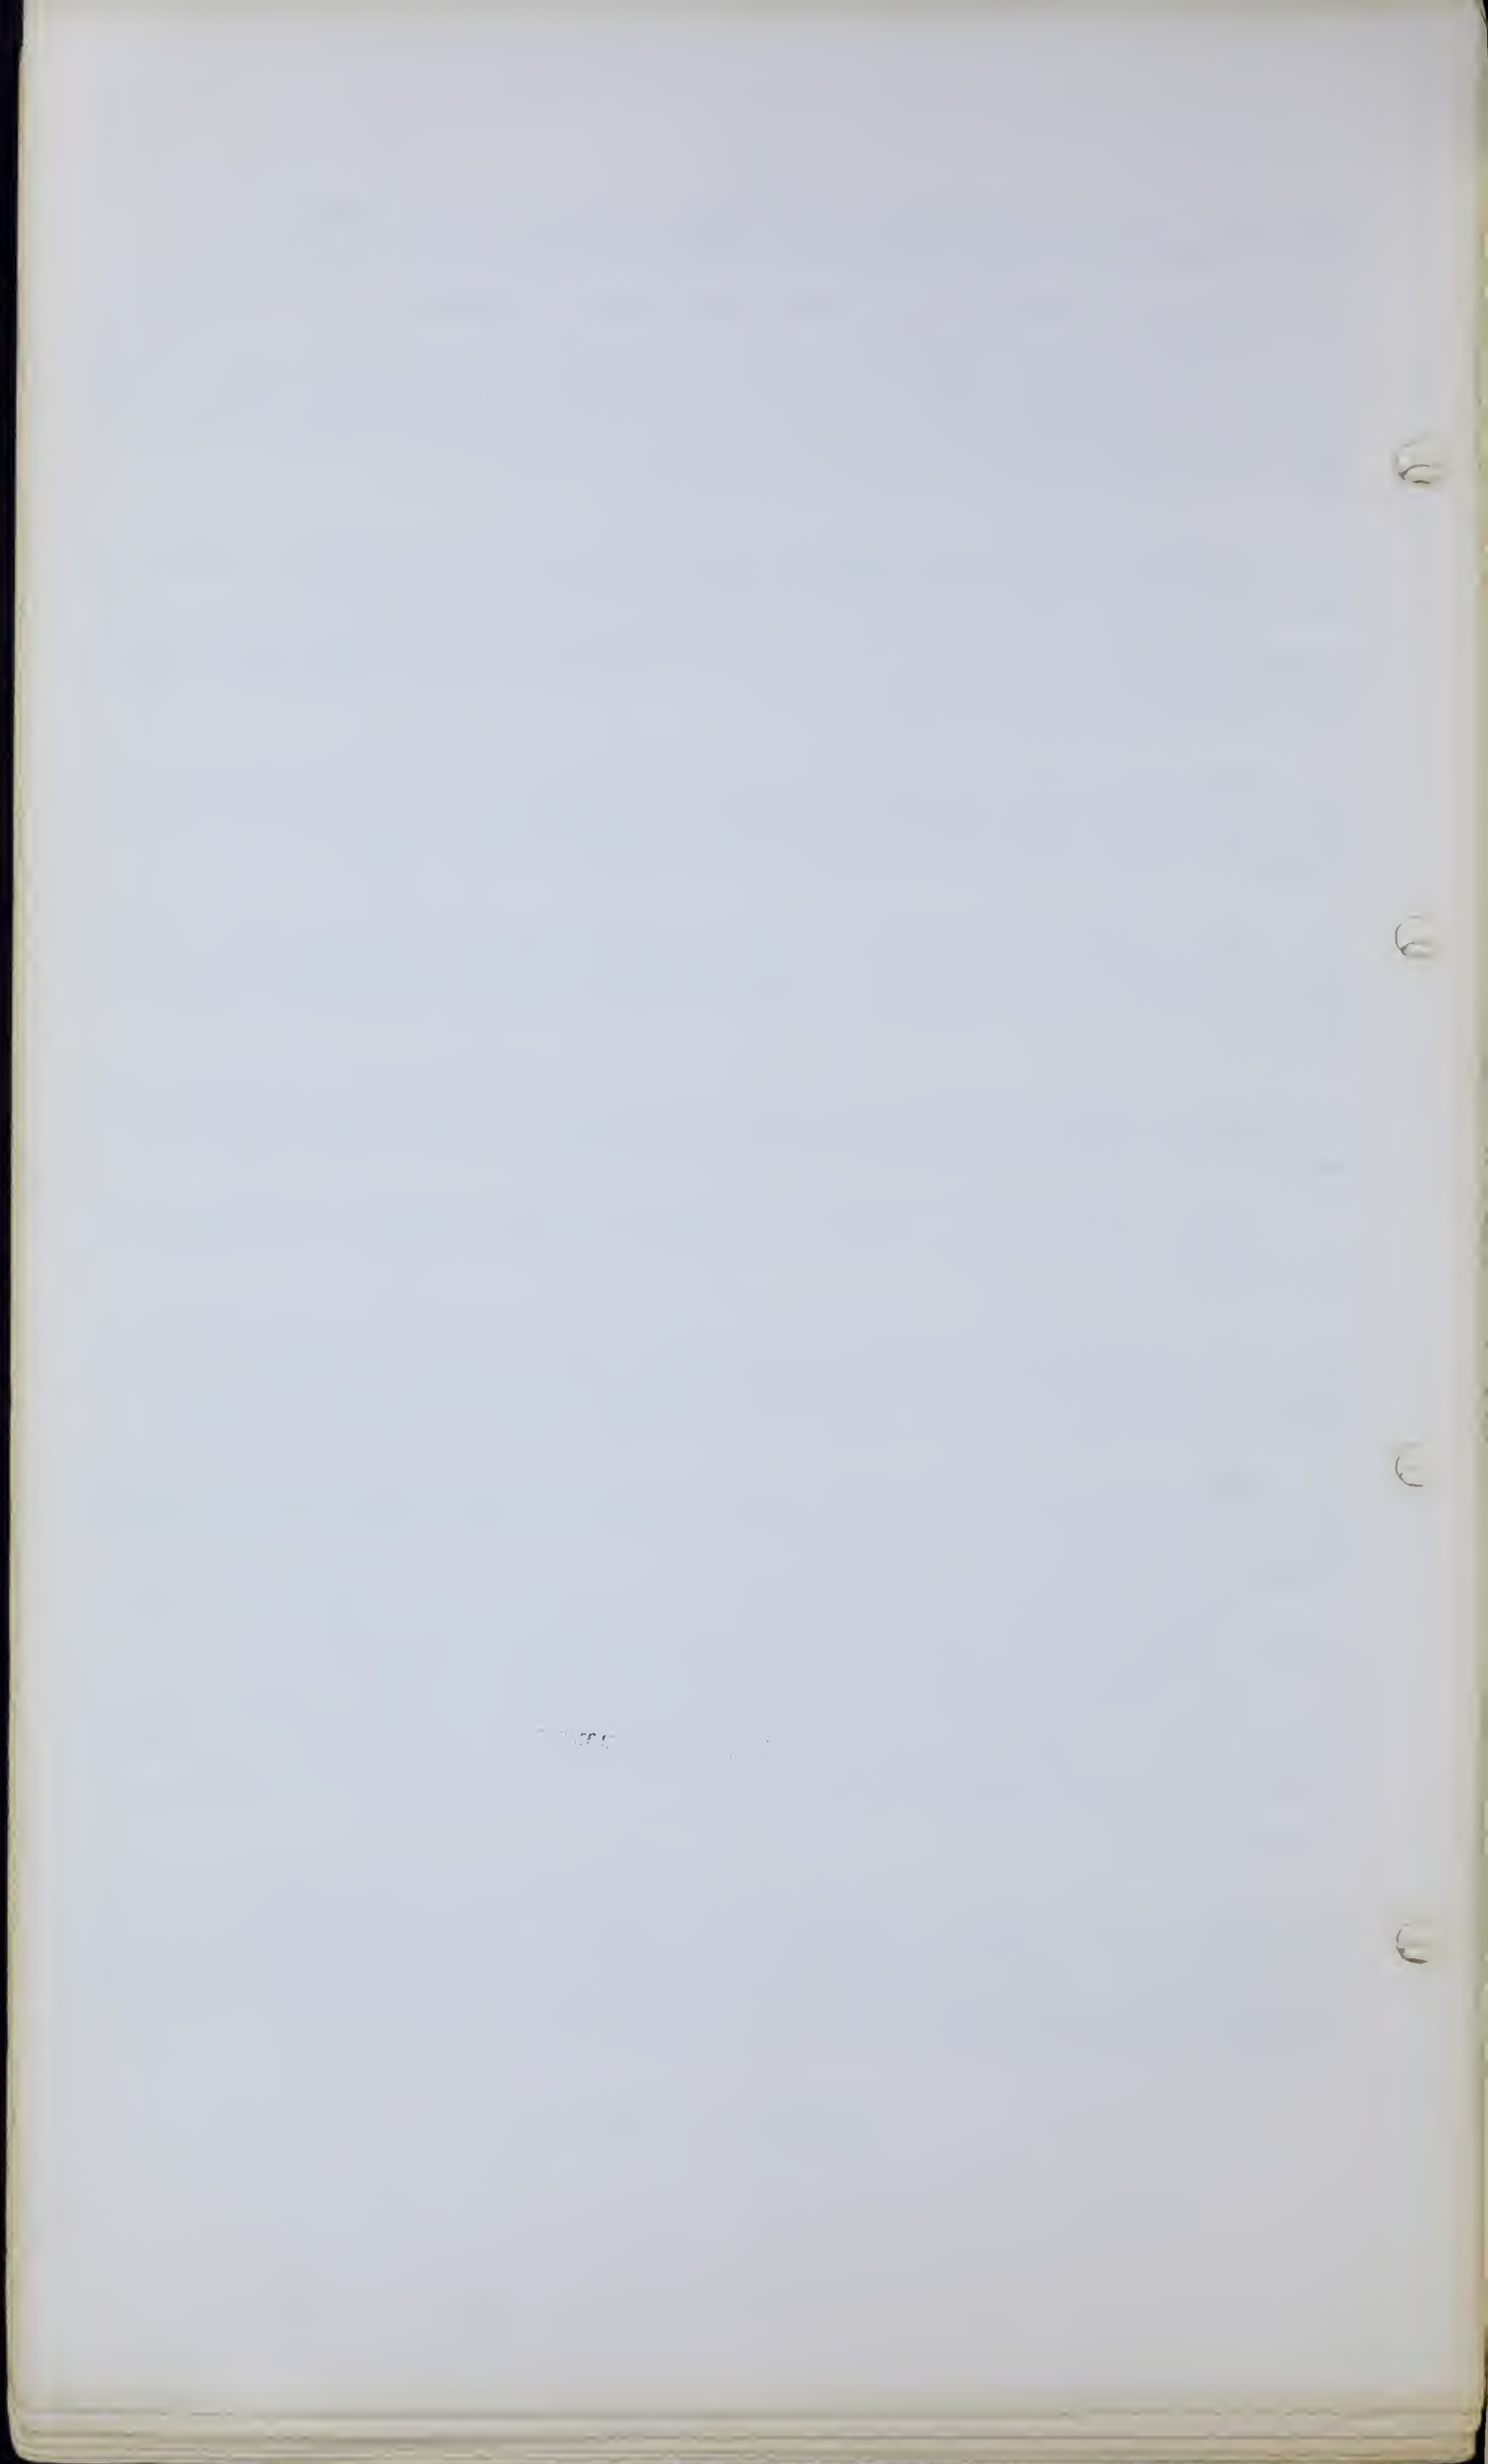

David Bell's 2nd wife was also a Switzer, a daughter of Sam Switzer and a cousin of his first wife. They had 2 sons, Nelson and Wilson. Nelson married Evalena Lockwood and lived all their life in Enterprise community. They had 4 children, Charles, Fred, Vernard and Nellie.

Charles (Nelson's son) married Aletha Haley and had 2 sons, Harold and Victor. Harold married Berniece Black, they had 3 children, Anita, Barbara and Charles. Victor married Pauline Detlor and have two daughters, Elizabeth and Caroline.

Fred (Nelson's second son) married Annie Card. They have one son, Donald. Vernard (Nelson's third son) married Ethel Daffoe and have 5 children. Helen is married to Sid Booth; Georgia is married to Ray Cook; Verna married Don Detlor; Lorne married Doreen Thompson and Margaret is at home.

Nellie (Nelson's only daughter) married Earl Davey (deceased). They had one son and one daughter.

William Bell (son of John Bell) married a Miss Chisolm and for many years was a photographer with a studio on Princess St., in Kingston. They had 4 children, John, Fred, May and Robert. John became a very prominent doctor in the city of Kingston. He also was interested in municipal affairs and in 1905 was Mayor of Kingston. In later years he became Chief Medical Officer for the "Canadian Order of Chosen Friends", and lived in Hamilton for many years.

Edward Fraser Bell (son of John Bell) became a school teacher and while at Wesley school his amorous association with a handsome young widow caused him to leave in a hurry for California. He was not heard from for many years. He changed his name to "Edward Fraser" and when he came back in 1902 he was a widower, a wealthy man and had a son and daughter in their early twenties, both mentally retarded. So despite his money, his life had not been very happy. I don't think he has any living descendants.

Rev. John D. Bell (son of John Bell) All that I know of him is that he married, and that he was a Methodist minister and had no children. He died in middle age.

Bowen Aylsworth Perry Bell (son of John Bell) always signed his name A.P. Bell, but was always called "Bone" Bell. He was born in early 1840's and in 1863 married Theresa Breault. For many years they lived on a farm just north of Wesley church, Lot 16. Con. 4. Camden. Here, 7 of their eight children were born. In the early "eighties" they moved to the "Bell Hill" farm near Desmond Lot 32. Con. 4. Camden, being the 3rd family of Bells to own this farm. First owner was David Bell 1st., second owner, his nephew, David Bell, and now David's first cousin, "Bone". "Bone" and Theresa had a family of 5 boys and 3 girls as follows — Ellwell born in 1865, Bathilda born in 1869, Wellington born in 1871, Seymour born in 1875, Fraser born in Feb. 18th, 1877, Amelia born in 3. 1880, Edyth born on Dec. 28th, 1881, Aylsworth born on Aug. 20th, 1888.

Ellwell married Theresa Warner, her home was west of Napanee on the Belleville road. They lived the first year on the south part of fathers farm then a few years in Enterprise and the rest of their life in Belleville. They had several children, Kenneth who lives in Toronto and has 3 sons, Clark, Herbert and Gordon. Alice Amelia (daughter of Ellwell Bell) was married to Fred Yard of Cornwall (deceased) she had 2 daughters, Jean and Helen. Percy Warner Bell, (son of Ellwell Bell) married Mary Lockwood of Westbrook. They had one daughter, June. She married Earl Treverton of Plainfield. They have a family of three, two sons, Percy and Fred and one daughter, Jane. Aubrey (son of Ellwell Bell) married and lives in Watertown, N.Y. Murriel, (daughter of Ellwell Bell) married James Rousehorn of Queensboro. She has 3 girls, Jean, Catheline and Margarette. Ruth (daughter of Ellwell Bell) is married to Alf Evans and lives in Belleville. They have 3 children, Jack, Randle and Jane.

Bathilda (daughter of Bowen Aylsworth Perry Bell) married George Campbell and farmed here for a few years then went west and farmed near Watrous, Saskatchewan. They adopted a young girl who married and now looks after them in their last days.

Wellington (son of Bowen Aylsworth Perry Bell) as a boy had many different jobs, but always home at threshing time to run the engine on his fathers threshing machine. He went west, married and farmed. His wife died in her early years, leaving him a son who now lives in California. In 1927 Wellington went to Madison to visit his brother, Rev. Fraser Bell, took ill and died. He is buried in Madison, Wisconsin.

Seymour (son of Bowen Aylsworth Perry Bell) in the early teens developed a great liking for the type of life as portrayed of cattle ranching in the western States, and when he was in his early twenties he went west. After some years he came home bringing his saddle, lariat and all the cowboy outfit home to show the folks. He sure was very handy with the lariat. After one summer at home he again left for the west, married and lived in the State of Idaho. He never came back home again and died there in 1910. His wife may still be living.

Edward Fraser (son of Bowen Aylsworth Perry Bell) went to Newburgh High School and then for a few years had several jobs clerking in stores. In 1900 he married his second cousin Minnie Hogeboon and their first child Pauline was born in April 1902. They had another daughter, Helen, a few years younger. Fraser died in 1942 and is buried in Indianapolis. Pauline married John Ewe in Madison, Wisconsin and has two sons, John Edward and Paul Fraser. Helen married John Switchback of Madison, Wisconsin about 1924. They had 4 sons, Richard, John, Bowen and James. They now live in San Jose, California.

Amelia (daughter of Bowen Aylsworth Perry Bell) taught school at Milsap school 1898 to 1899, at Desmond from 1900 to Sept 1902. She then went to California with her Uncle Edward Fraser. Her fiance Will Cranston went later and they were married there.

They came back east in a year or so and Amelia died in 1906 and is buried at Napanee.

Edyth, daughter of Bowen Aylsworth Perry Bell, married Ernest May of Orilla in 1905. They moved west of Watrous, Saskatchewan in 1910. They had six children. The eldest son, Gordon, was born in 1907 and died in his early teens. Garnet, their second son, also born in 1907, has been a high school teacher in Toronto.

Aylsworth, son of Bowen Aylsworth Perry Bell, went through high school in Napanee and then to Bangor Seminary in Maine. He was a congregational minister for several years. We, with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Switzer visited him in Rochester, N.Y. in 1929. His wife was a Miss Ethel Taylor of Bangor, Maine, U.S. A. They had one son, Taylor, and one daughter, Aletha. Taylor became a dentist in Chicago.

PLEASE NOTE: If you will turn to page 2 and run your finger down to the last paragraph you will find the Hogeboon family, Joe, Edward and Minnie. We have omitted Joe's 3 sons. Here they are —

Clarence Hogeboon is a teacher and librarian in Collins Bay penitentiary, is married and lives in Kingston.

Maurin Hogeboon is a merchant, married and lives on Amherst Island.

Edwin Hogeboon is a bachelor and lives on the homestead on Amherst Island.

ANOTHER OMISSION — Turn to page six and run your finger down until you get to EDWARD FRASER. What we forgot to mention is — After Edward Fraser's marriage in 1902 he began to study for the Congregational ministry in the U.S.A. After graduation he held several successful pastorals in the state of Iowa and Wisconsin. At the time of his death in 1942 he was pastor of a large church in Madison, Wisconsin.

It is my sincere hope that nothing in this book will be taken as a derogatory remark. The residents of Amherst Island, like any other group, have inherited words and customs from their ancestors. My grandmother, who was born in the ~~East~~ English midlands, always spoke of houses in referring to a person's home. So, if my dear old grandmother can deviate, why can't an Islander do likewise. No wonder I always feel at home on the Emerald Isle. And some days, may they all be Presbyterians, or something better or worse. And may all of us live long and die happy.

James C. Bell - son of William McCorquada Bell, the third, and Deborah Hearn - 4th generation.

James was born on September 6th, 1812. He came to Sheffield in the early 30's with his worldly possessions on his back, figuratively no doubt, and hewed out for himself a home. In 1836 he married Matilda Gonzalaus of Belleville, who died in July of 1883. They raised a family of eleven children — Margaret Ann, eldest child, was born in 1837. She was an exceptionally capable girl but being the eldest of a family of eleven her services were required by her mother in the care of the children.

She took advantage however of the opportunities at hand, and after the family were grown she attended a school, living with an old uncle and aunty, where she could have leisure to help with the household while attending school. In time she obtained a certificate to teach, which profession she followed for several years.

She married Charles Wartman, a pump manufacturer of Colebrack. They had two children, Elizabeth and Carman, who died when he was a year old. Elizabeth was born in 1895 on the 11th of February. She attended high school first in Napanee and later in Newburgh, obtaining there her second class certificate. She married Mortimer Lochhead on September 24th in 1894 (the later date is Mortimer's birth date and not marriage. Sorry.). They lived on a farm near Centreville until his death. In 1922 she and Ada Dickson went to visit friends in Manitoba and in B.C., then down to Arizona and California, returning to Canada the following year. Ada taught school and Elizabeth kept house for her.

Luke Bell - maybe better known as "Big Luke", and who was also locally famous for his great strength and his ability to quell the many local fist fights so common in the early days, was the eldest son of James C. Bell and Matilda Gonzalaus. He first marriage was to Margaret McGill. Two of their children died in their infancy, also the mother. Later he married Annie Hughes of Croydon. They had ten children, seven boys and three girls. Samuel Hughes Bell was born in 1866. Margaret Ann Bell was born in 1869 and deceased at 16 years of age. Mary Bell was born in 1871. She remained a spinster and moved out west with her parents when she was 18 years of age. She always lived on the homestead on which they settled in Manitoba, near Baldur, and helped in the care of her father and brother Samuel, and later the care of her aged mother, with the assistance of her youngest brother Bert, who in turn cared for her during her last illness in July 1959. They moved from Baldur to Winnipeg, where they lived for several years.

The latter is a stenographer and lives in California. Clara is married, also Wesley, William and Myrtle. The latter married Mark Bishop of Mountain Grove. They have no child.

ANOTHER OMISSION:-

David S. Bell was born on July 10th, 1821, and is the son of William Bell, the third, and Deborah Hearn, and married to Their family were David, Hannah, Alicia, Carrie, Jacob.

David Start Bell married Caroline Clark of Clarks Mills, now called Carden East. He inherited his father's excellent 200 farm near Newburgh, and later also inherited one from his uncle David at Desmond. David and Caroline had nine children. They were, George, William, Jacob, Donald, Elizabeth, Agnes, Hannah, Alicia and Caroline.

Hannah married Samuel McConnell of Newburgh and had one daughter, Pearl, who married in the west.

Alicia took care of her parents and was also a music teacher. Later she married a Mr. Fraser and lived in Elkhorn, Manitoba.

Carrie taught school and then married a Mr. Best. We have no further data.

Jacob lived at home with his father, helping to operate the farm. Later he went to Manitoba with the family. He was one of nature's gentlemen.

David and his wife cared for his mother Peggy (Margaret Deborah) who needed help.

The writer of this history lived with them for a time while attending Newburgh high school, and remembers the year of the great fire, which wiped out so many homes and places of business in Newburgh. A whole family was taken in by the David Bell's and treated as their own. Two daughters, Rachael and Mary became rather well known as artists and later lived in Tweed, Ontario.

When we think of uncle David, we remember the vast kindness of them and the real hospitality of their home.

John Nelson Bell - youngest son of James C. Bell and Matilda Gonzalaus went to western Ontario in early manhood. He married Dorcas Henry. They later moved to southern Manitoba, where they farmed extensively and raised family. Roland, of B.C. now deceased, inherited his fathers business, that of a Broom factory, where he employed over eighty men, a very successful and prosperous business. He married twice. The first wife deceased. They had three sons. He married again, a Scotch lass, and there were four children by that marriage. All are living in Vancouver. We were informed that the business was sold after Roland's death. Besides Roland there were Milton, Matilda, (birdie) William, Anna and Cleaver, The latter lives in California. Anna married Fred Telford, formerly of Ireland. They sold their home and were touring the east, while deciding where they would built or make their new home. William is a doctor in California.

Luke Bell Sr. - third son of William McCorquodale Bell, the third, and Deborah Hearnns, was in 1815 and died in 1907. He was married to Ann Clark of Clark's Mills, later named Camden East. We have no record of the date of their marriage. He lived first, after their marriage, a mile south of Tamworth, on a farm. He pioneered it, as far as we know. Then later moved to Camden on the Lake Road, better known to-day as Mud Lake Road. Some years later they moved on a farm in the vicinity of Petralea. We remember him as a kindly jovial old man who loved children. To Luke and Ann, also a much loved person, were born seven children.

Augusta married Henry Ingraham. There were no children. He was four years the Town Clerk.

Jane first married Mr. Green of Arden, they had 1 child. Her second marriage was to Lasher See.

They operate a photographer's store in Fort William. Laura married Wm. Bond and have five children, Thomas, John, Janet, Phyllis and another girl.

William Henery Bell, the youngest son of Andrew E Bell and Chlooe Moore, was born in November 17th, 1862 and married Mary Ann Hall from Dresden, Ontario, and lived on a farm about five miles from Dresden, until 1900 when he went to Oconnor Township, about 22 miles from Fort William and homesteaded 160 acres of land, mostly bush, which burned in a bush fire about 1912. He had two sons, William Roy, born in November 2nd, 1896. He now lives in Regina, Saskatchewan. He married Violet Huffman and has three boys, Joseph, Murray and George. Joseph now lives in a suburb of Vancouver, B.C., and married a widow with one son. He is a manufacture's agent and travels the Alaskan highway and the Yukon. Murray is an engineer on the railroad and lives in Prince Albert, Saskatchewan. He has 3 girls. George is unmarried and fires on the railroad in various parts of Saskatchewan.

The second son, Andrew Murray Bell, was born on July 31st, 1898 at Dresden, Ontario. He went to Detroit in 1919 and worked in various Automobile agencies. He moved to Cleveland, Ohio in 1925 after being married to Celia Ann Harnes in Detroit. In 1926 they moved to Minneapolis. In 1929 they moved from Minneapolis to Pittsburgh, and in 1931 they moved to Charleston, West Virginia, and soon engaged in operating a truck line for eleven years. They sold the truck line in 1947 and became associated an Oldsmobile agency, they sold this out in 1958 and partly retired, but still retaining interest in the truck Sales Agency in Charleston. They live at present at 1602 Woodford Ave, Fort Myers, Florida.

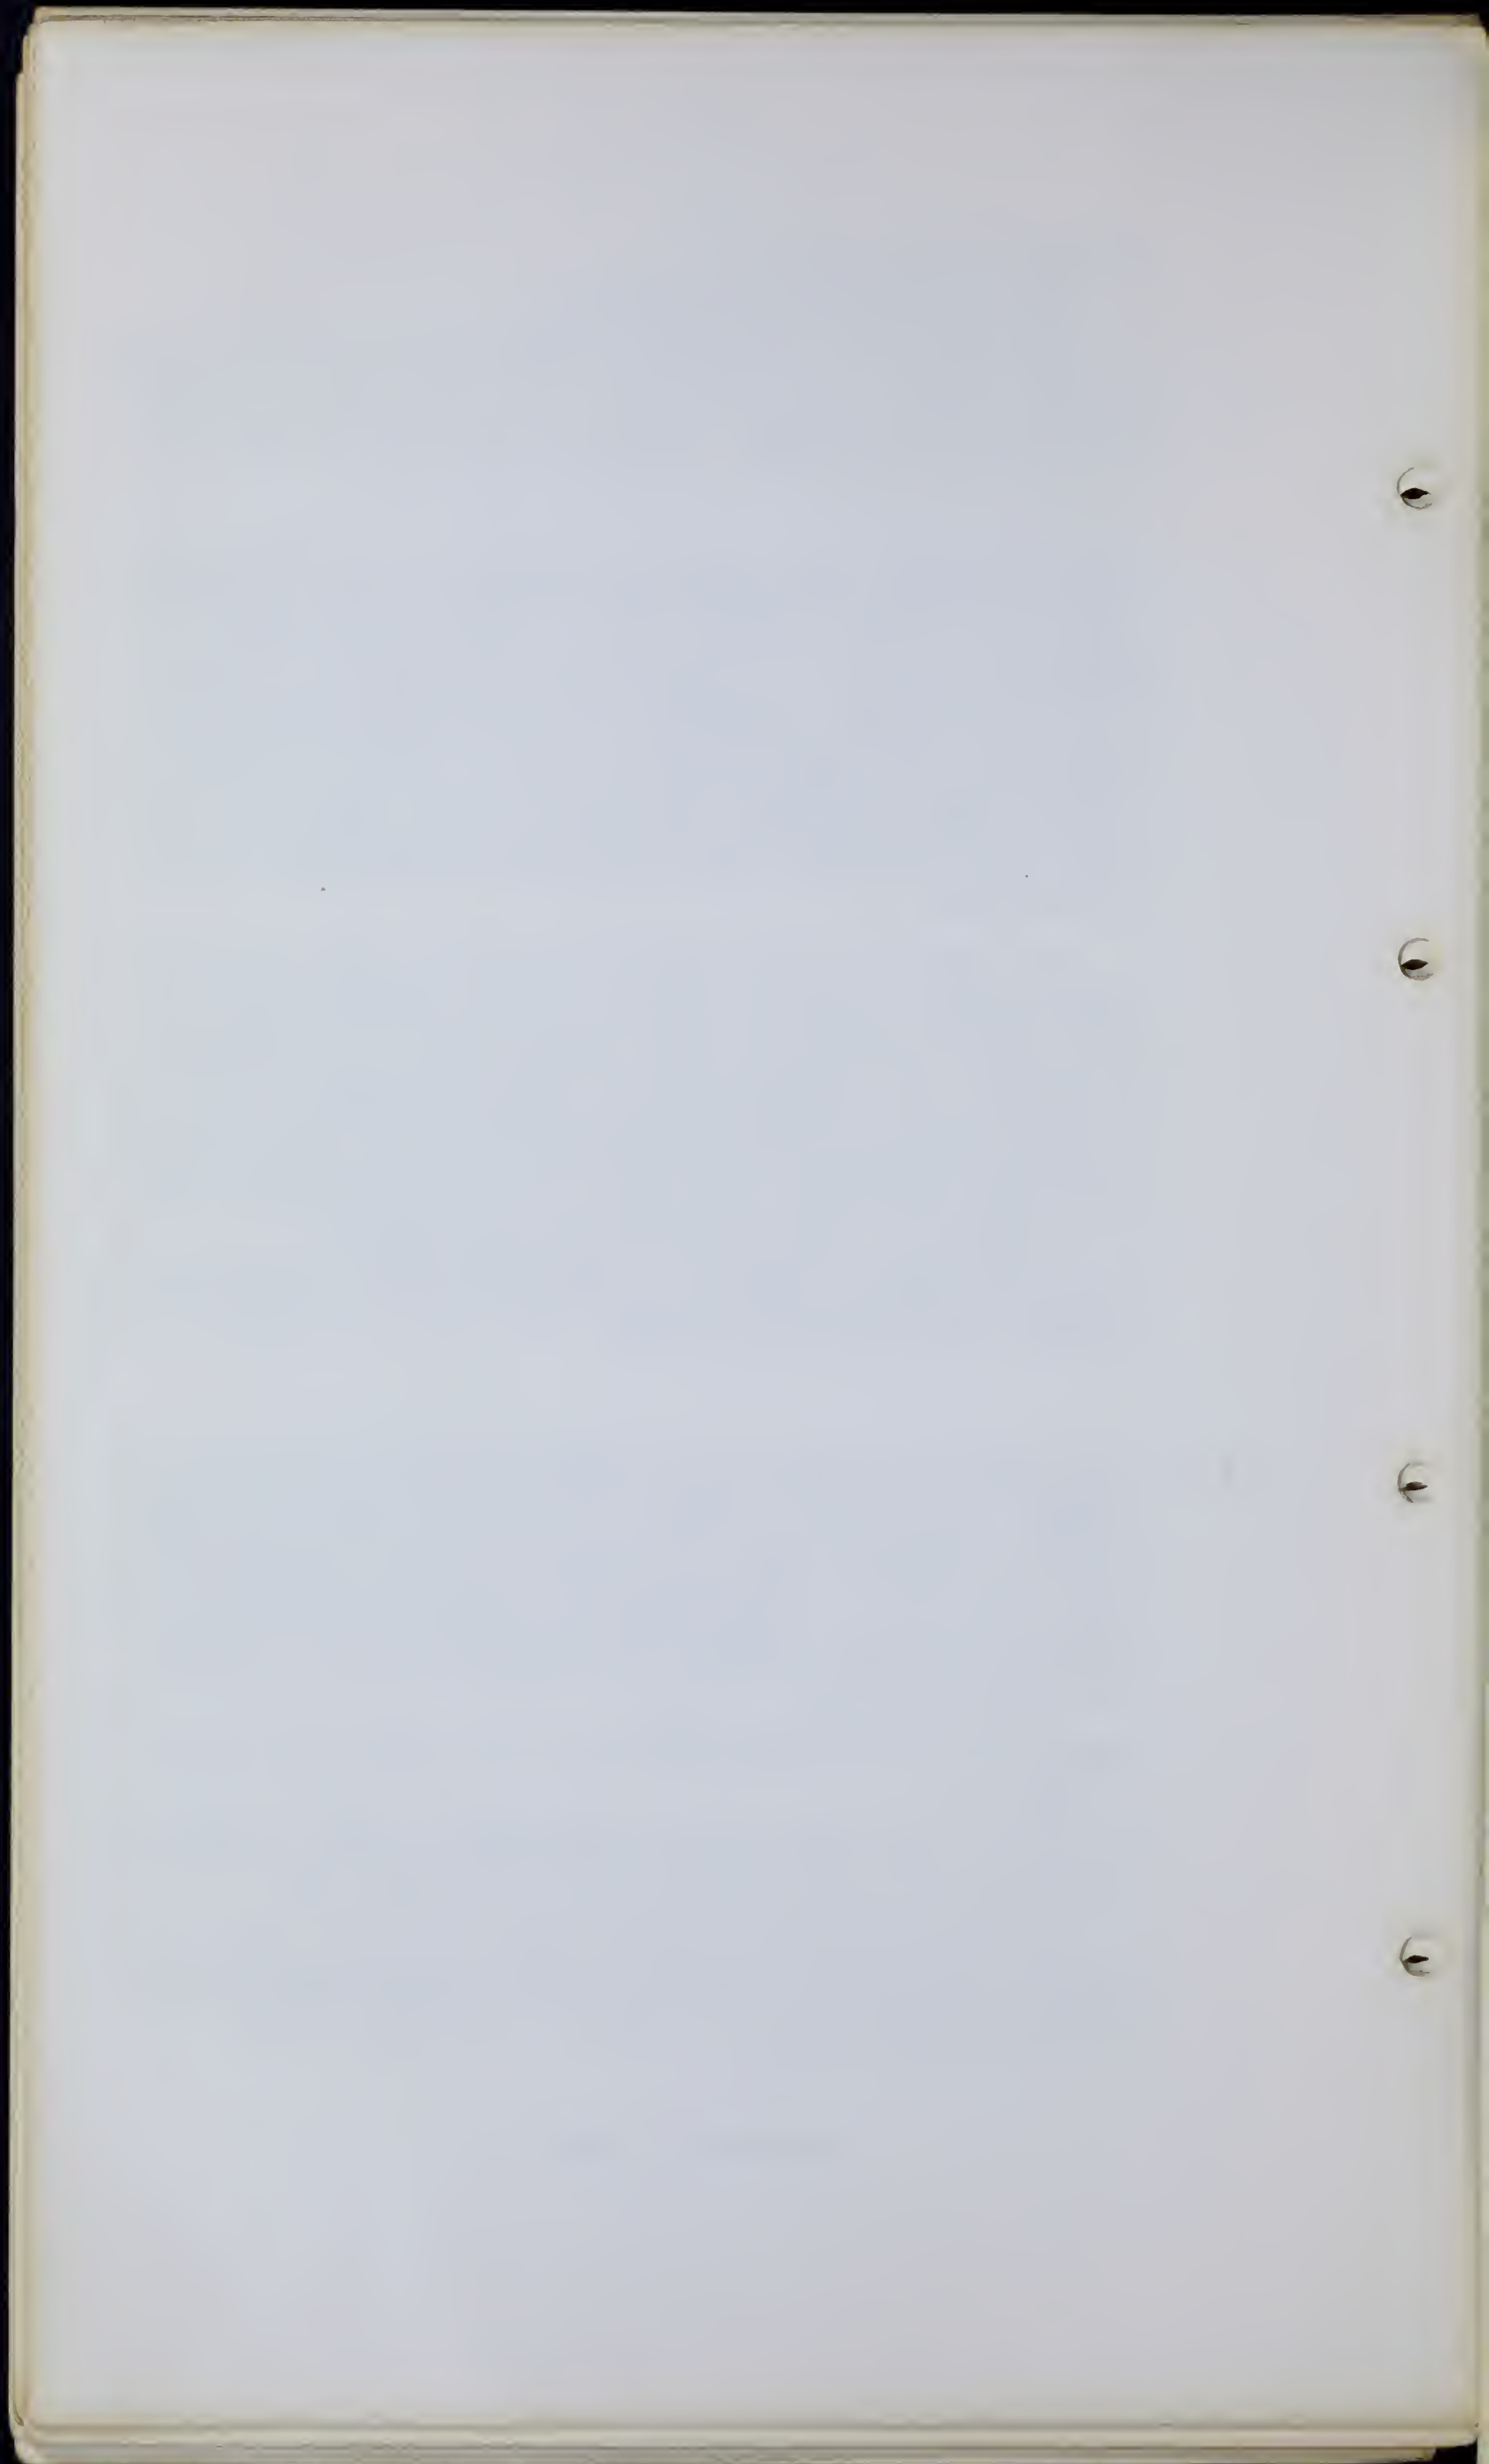

One daughter, Barbara Alene, born in Minneapolis on December 10th, 1927, married William Richards, a cattle rancher. They have three boys, Douglas Scott Richards, Charles Daniel Richards and David Andrew Richards. They too, live in Fort Myers, Florida.

Daniel Fraser Bell, youngest child of William Bell, the second, was born in 1812. As his father and his grandfather had both been British Army officers, he did his bit by serving as a volunteer in the 1837 rebellion in Canada. In 1836 he married Chissey Mowbray, born in 1817. She was a daughter of D. Robert Mowbray who practised medicine in Ireland. She was born in the village of Donegal, Ireland, and coming to Canada in 1829, and for 7 years lived with her brother Robert Mowbray on the old Mowbray homestead in Sheffield township, to the south of Tamworth, or rather, south-west of Tamworth.

After their marriage in 1836 they settle on Lot 34. Con. 4 Camden township. This was part of the land grant of 1000 acres given to his father.

NOTE: This land was a "Clergy Reserve" lot and they were always the last lot to be taken when land was being settled and this deed says one hundred acres. The regular deeds say 100 acres more or less. Result is that this lot is about 4 rods longer than those beside it.

It would seem that for 11 years Fraser only had what was known as squatters rights. In 1847 he decided to build a new stone house. He received a Crown Deed at that time as Quebec City was Canada's Capital. The deed was written on a heavy parchment and signed by the Earl of Cathcart, Governor General.

Their 1st child was John W. Bell, born in 1838 and died in 1901. In early life he taught school and in 1859 married Julia Purcell.

He soon became interested in municipal affairs and was elected to Township council, and was Reeve of Camden for 7 years. He was Warden of Lennox and Addington in 1879. He contested in five Dominion elections, winning in 1882, 1887, defeated in 1891, and winning again in 1896 and 1900.

After holding many important offices in the Orange Lodge he was finally elected in 1900 as President of Orange Triennial Council in New York.

He died in July of 1901. The funeral was on a lovely Sunday morning. An estimated crowd of over 3000 people assembled, many bringing along food for a noon meal.

Among the crowd were ex-cabinet minister and ex-prime minister of Canada, Sir MacKenzie Bowell and Hon. C. Wallace, ex-minister of Customs. There were over 600 Orangemen (registered) in the procession.

The second child was James Stewart, born in 1844 and died in 1930

Helen, was the third child and was born in 1848 and died in 1886. She never married.
